ENVIROSUITE WEBSITE AND VIDEO SPANISH VERSION

Further to the announcement on 18 March 2015, Pacific Environment Limited (“The Company”) is pleased to announce the launch of the first non-English language version of the EnviroSuite video and website. The Spanish translation can be viewed at the following link:

The Spanish version has been produced to support the business development initiatives for EnviroSuite in the Americas. In May-June the CEO, Peter White and Company Founder and Head of Science and Innovation, Robin Ormerod will travel to North America for a number of follow-up meetings with potential channel sales partners. In June the Company will also be exhibiting at conferences in both the USA and Chile.

The USA has a sophisticated environmental regulatory regime, presenting an excellent opportunity for pioneering solutions such as EnviroSuite. Similarly Chile has a reputation for promoting environmental best practice in South America.

The broadening of the EnviroSuite marketing materials signals another step in the Company’s international expansion strategy. More translations of existing and future collateral are planned to open the door to new market opportunities.

About EnviroSuite

EnviroSuite is a unique platform of cloud-based software applications addressing a range of environmental management and compliance issues across the resources, infrastructure, health, heavy industry and government sectors. EnviroSuite provides historical, real-time and predictive capabilities that enhance productivity and efficiency, while focusing on environmental compliance and performance imperatives.

EnviroSuite 2.0 is the commercialised version of EnviroSuite 1.0. It incorporates a modular, highly scalable design that is hosted in the Amazon Web Services cloud. EnviroSuite 1.0 has been operating commercially in the domestic market since 2011 with over 20 blue-chip clients.
