2018 in review

A challenging year

- FY18 was a very disappointing year for Blue Sky. An activist short-selling campaign severely disrupted our business ahead of what is typically our most productive period for new fund capital raisings
 - Blue Sky's FY18 result is a reflection of this significant disruption, its resulting direct and indirect impact and a range of structural changes we have implemented in order to improve trust and confidence with all our stakeholders
 - Large reductions in previously anticipated revenue as our expected new fund capital raisings were halted;
 - Large increases in abnormal legal, audit and consultant costs relating to the disruption to our usual business operations;
 - Costs associated with restructuring our business including staff redundancies, staff retention measures and the closing of certain investment strategies;
 - Revisions of carrying values of all investments resulting in some non-cash reductions in accrued performance fees and balance sheet investments; and
 - Provisions against outstanding loans to certain investment funds which are currently underperforming
 - In addition and unrelated to the impact of the short-selling campaign, the year's results were also affected by the cessation of a number of development projects in the Retirement Living and Purpose Built Student Accommodation (PBSA) divisions, resulting in:
 - The refunding of investor client monies and associated fees; and
 - A reduction in the carrying value of their respective operating platforms Aura and Atira
 - On 24 August 2018 Blue Sky announced a sale agreement for its interests in the Blue Sky Retirement Living Funds and operating platform, Aura

Underlying financial performance - summary

- Financial results reflect disruption to the business resulting in:
 - Reductions in previously anticipated operating revenue (particularly transaction fees) – down 63% vs FY17 on a normalised basis
 - Refunding fees (management & transaction fees). Six significant real estate development projects and associated Blue Sky funds were terminated or deferred prior to construction
 - Increases in operating expenses associated with the business disruption and consequential restructure
 - Non-cash valuation reductions reflecting the revaluation of platform assets following termination or deferral of six real estate development projects

Capital Management Update

- Cash balance of $40.0m at 30 June 2018, with no corporate debt, impacted by $22.7m of abnormal operating cash flows and $20.6m of unanticipated bridging finance loans to funds since 31 December 2017 as wholesale capital raisings were halted amidst a lack of investor confidence
- Update: Cash balance of approximately $31.0m at end of August 2018, reflecting neutral operating cash flows and continued balance sheet investing since 30 June 2018

Notes:

1. Includes alignment capital deployed alongside institutional and other investors and US joint ventures.
2. Net operating cash flow excluding abnormal items was impacted by the lack of investor confidence and reflects the halt of wholesale investor capital raisings, amongst other things
3. Includes fees repaid in relation to terminated or deferred student accommodation and retirement living projects, and restructure costs where appropriate – includes 2H18 only.
4. The company maintains a minimum level of liquidity, currently set at $20 million, sufficient to meet obligations over the next 12 months, regulatory requirements such as Australian Financial Services obligations and financial covenants attached to contractual obligations.

NTA per share at 30 June 2018

Understanding Blue Sky's financials

What is the difference between Blue Sky's statutory and underlying results?

- Blue Sky invests into a range of funds that it manages, typically as alignment capital alongside institutional investors
- Blue Sky has also made several investments into joint ventures (e.g. Cove, Student Quarters) and operational businesses that are related to funds that we manage (e.g. Atira (the operator of our Australian student accommodation assets) and Aura (the operator of our Australian retirement living assets))
- Statutory results: AASB 10 'Consolidated Financial Statements' requires that, for funds in which Blue Sky has invested, these are accounted for either on a consolidated basis or using equity accounting (depending on the level of control). This accounting treatment has a range of impacts, including:
 - Management, performance and other fees that are earned by Blue Sky from funds in which it has invested and is deemed to have control are eliminated upon consolidation and therefore do not appear in our statutory results;
 - The assets and liabilities of funds that are consolidated are included in the Consolidated Group's Statement of Financial Position, but the fair value of the units held by Blue Sky in those funds is eliminated upon consolidation; and
 - For funds that are accounted for using the equity accounting method, a share of the period's profit or loss – rather than the fair value of the units held by Blue Sky in those funds – appears in the consolidated results of the Group
- Underlying results: Blue Sky's underlying results are prepared on exactly the same basis as its statutory results, with the only difference being that Blue Sky's fund investments are accounted for using the same approach as AASB 13 'Fair Value Measurement'. This means that:
 - All management, performance or other fees earned by Blue Sky are included in our underlying results
 - All investments in our funds are included in our underlying results at fair value
 - No consolidation of profit and loss, balance sheet and cash flow items from funds that we manage
 - Balance sheet investments into joint ventures (e.g. Cove, Student Quarters) are accounted for in the same way under our statutory and underlying results

Does Blue Sky's audit include its underlying results?

Ernst & Young audits our statutory results and reviews our underlying results

Do other alternative asset managers present underlying results?

Yes. This accounting standard has the same impact described above on alternative asset managers globally (for those that invest in their funds) and Blue Sky's approach is based on the approach adopted by global asset managers

Commentary on statutory results:

- Statutory results exclude the management fees, performance fees and other fees that have been earned by Blue Sky from consolidated funds (as these are eliminated upon consolidation in accordance with AASB 10)
- Statutory results include all of the revenue and expenses attributable to funds that have been consolidated, as well as a share of the profit/(loss) of funds that have been equity accounted in accordance with AASB 10
 - The revenue and expenses from the funds that are consolidated are attributable to the fund's unitholders (of which Blue Sky is one), but are not wholly attributable to Blue Sky
- Notwithstanding the above, AASB 10 requires that these funds be consolidated where Blue Sky is deemed to have control, and equity accounted where Blue Sky is deemed to have significant influence

Commentary on underlying results:

- Underlying results exclude all of the revenue and expenses attributable to funds that have been consolidated in the statutory results, as well as the share of profit/(loss) of funds that have been equity accounted in accordance with AASB 10
- Underlying results include the management, performance and other fees earned by Blue Sky from these funds
- The underlying results are therefore more reflective of the economic reality

Note that the statutory results include the impact of a range of Blue Sky managed funds that have been consolidated or equity accounted following the adoption of AASB 10. The underlying results columns are non-IFRS financial information and are based on all equity held by Blue Sky in funds and fund related entities that it manages being accounted for at fair value using the same approach as outlined in AASB 13. A reconciliation between the Underlying Results and the Statutory Results is provided in the Annual Financial Report which may be downloaded from the ASX's website. The non-IFRS financial information has been reviewed by Blue Sky's auditor (Ernst & Young)

Understanding Blue Sky's performance fees

A Closed-ended funds

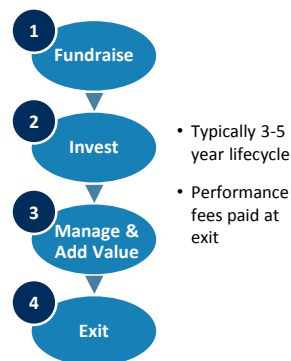

Performance fees

Accounting treatment

- Accrued (i.e. non-cash) at least annually throughout fund lifecycle based on hypothetical liquidation of fund assets at market value
 - Recorded in fund as a liability to report an accurate unit price to fund investors
 - Recorded in Blue Sky as an asset (net of performance fee related compensation to investment teams) to report an accurate NTA to shareholders

Cash treatment

- Paid upon realisation event (e.g. the sale of the asset held in the fund) if specified return realised by fund investors (typically 20% of returns above an 8% p.a. hurdle rate)

Trustee obligation

Report to investors the value of their investment throughout lifecycle at least annually

Key assets in fund to be valued at least annually

Asset valuations independently reviewed annually to report accurate value to investors

B Open-ended funds¹

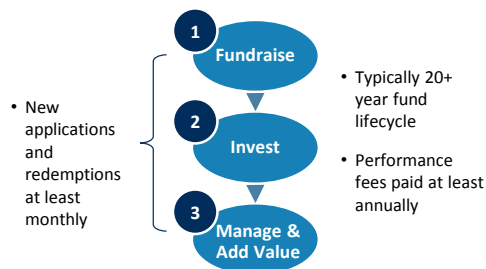

Performance fees

Accounting treatment

- Accrued (i.e. non-cash) at least monthly throughout fund lifecycle based on hypothetical liquidation of fund assets at market value
 - Recorded in fund as a liability to report an accurate unit price to fund investors
 - Recorded in Blue Sky as an asset (net of performance fee related compensation to investment teams) to report an accurate NTA to shareholders

Cash treatment

- Paid at least annually if specified return achieved for fund investors (e.g. for the Blue Sky Water Fund, 17.5% of returns above an 8% hurdle rate subject to "high water mark"²)

Trustee obligation

Report to investors the value of their investment throughout lifecycle at least monthly

Key assets in fund to be valued at least monthly

Asset valuations independently reviewed at least monthly to report accurate value to investors

Notes:

- For example, the Blue Sky Water Fund
- Represents the highest value that a fund has reached historically and is used as a required benchmark for future performance fees

Summary of expected AASB 15 impacts

- Performance fee revenue recognition expected to align with the realisation of fund assets or contracted performance fee entitlements (e.g. per open-ended fund or mandate agreements)
- One-off material impact to opening balances following the adoption of AASB 15 on 1 July 2018. On a pro-forma basis the estimated reduction is $0.27 in NTA per share to the 30 June 2018 financial position
- The transition from previous revenue standards and the complete impact will be disclosed in our financial report for the half-year ending 31 December 2018
- Financial Statement impacts expected to include:
 - Timing of future years revenue recognition
 - One-off adjustment to opening balances
 - No effect to cash flow
 - Additional disclosures
- Further commentary and detail is provided in Blue Sky's Financial Report for the year ended 30 June 2018
