Westar appoints Steve Sheppard as Exploration Manager

Westar Resources Limited (ASX: WSR) (Westar or the Company) is pleased to announce the appointment of Steve Sheppard as Exploration Manager, commencing October 2024.

Steve brings more than 30 years of geological experience predominantly in Western Australia and some overseas experience, across a range of commodities in particular gold.

Currently Steve is Exploration Manager for Calidus Resources (ASX: CAI) in WA, having started with them in 2018. During his tenure with Calidus, Steve led the team who discovered the Felix gold prospect near Nullagine. Prior to Calidus, Steve's extensive career has spanned the boundaries of industry, government and academic research in mineral resources projects, with a strong focus on developing and planning innovative field exploration techniques and mentoring.

Most notably Steve served 17 years with the Geological Survey of Western Australia (GSWA) including 15 field seasons of remote regional mapping: producing more than 50 geological maps, reports and papers. He led a collaborative effort with UWA to identify the search for LCT pegmatites in the Gascoyne Province, which proved instrumental in the development of projects such as Delta Lithium's Malinda lithium deposit.

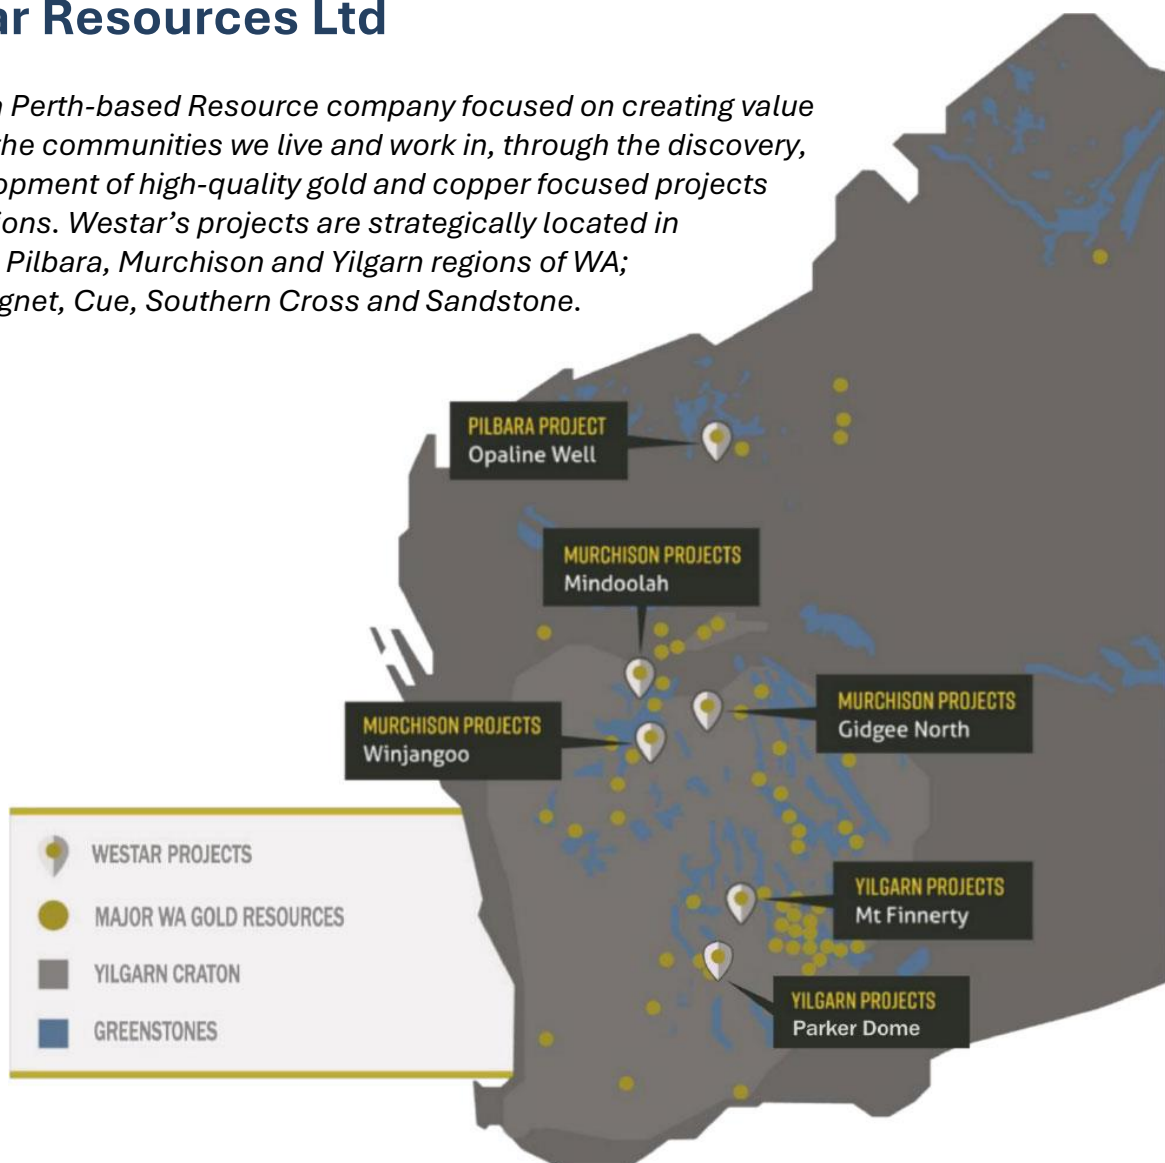

Steve has a strong history of successfully applying innovative techniques and technologies to support mineral exploration and discovery, such as pioneering the use of digital field mapping at GSWA and trialling portable, low-level gold assay techniques.

Westar Executive Director Jason Boladeras commented:

"We are delighted to welcome Steve to our team next month. His proven track record as Exploration Manager, mentor and innovator will play an important role in guiding our exploration activities and unlocking the full potential of our projects. Further, his deep technical expertise in understanding geological models in WA will be a valuable addition to our skill set as we continue to search for advanced gold and copper focused projects."
