CHAIRMAN'S REVIEW

In a year of heightened volatility, Whitefield Industrials outperformed its benchmark, generated strong growth in income and increased shareholder dividends

Whitefield Industrials successfully completed its 102nd year of operations on 31st March 2025. While the closing months of the year reflected the recent volatility of global equity markets, we have been pleased with the performance of Whitefield's investment strategy relative to benchmark and the continued growth in underlying income across the year.

Investment Returns

Whitefield Share Price and Dividends	5.35%	4.14%	7.84%	13.52%

* NAB is Pre-Deferred Tax Net Asset Backing

The company's investment portfolio generated an outright return of 7.5% across the financial year to March 2025. This result compares to the 6.7% return of the company's benchmark (the S&P/ASX200 Industrials Accumulation Index) and the 2.8% return of the broader S&P/ASX200 Accumulation Index.

The company's 3 year investment portfolio return of 7.8% per annum outperformed its benchmark, the S&P/ASX200 Industrials Accumulation Index, by 0.2% per year and outperformed the S&P/ASX200 Accumulation Index by 2.2% per year.

Whitefield's total return to shareholders based on Net Asset Backing plus dividends and franking credits amounted to 8.3% for the year and 9.2% per annum over the longer 7 year time horizon.

(The 7 year measurement period has been used to provide a more accurate measure of performance across the full COVID period. Current 5 year measures are less indicative as they capture only some, but not all, of the monthly market volatility in March and April 2020.)

Strong investment performance across the year came from investments in Promedius, Qantas, Technology One, Computershare, Aristocrat, JB Hi Fi, Ansell, Telix Pharmaceuticals, Sigma Pharmaceuticals, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare, Regis Healthcare, Pinnacle Investment Management Group and Life 360. The major banks, Brambles, Wesfarmers and QBE also made robust contributions to the company's total investment return.

Operating Results and Earnings per Share

Whitefield is pleased to report an operating profit after tax for the year ended 31st March 2025 of $22.4m. Core operating profit after tax (and after preference share dividends) rose 10% on the prior year. In addition the company generated an abnormal gain of $334,716 on the maturity and conversion of the company's convertible preference shares.

Investment revenue rose 7%. Dividend increases were apparent across a moderate proportion of the company's investment holdings. Notable increases came from CBA, Westpac and NAB, Scentre Group, QBE, Woolworths, Suncorp, Brambles, CSL, Origin, Telstra and JB Hi Fi.

Total costs of operation amounted to only 0.41% of average assets.

Income tax expenses were slightly lower than the prior year reflecting the higher proportion of franked income received across the 12 months.

Earnings per ordinary share amounted to 18.7 cents (or 18.4 cents excluding the gain on preference share maturity) an increase of 10%.

As can be seen from the following chart, Whitefield's earnings per share have grown materially over time. This is a consequence of the underlying growth in the earnings of the Australian industrial economy, which in turn are influenced by combinations of inflation, population growth, productivity and reinvestment. Over recent years, the abnormal influence of the COVID pandemic on the economy in 2020 is clearly evident, as are the more normal levels of earnings growth in the post-COVID era.

Dividends

Consistent with our objective of providing both stability and growth in dividends over time, Whitefield has declared and paid a dividend of 10.5 cents per Ordinary Share (prior year 10.25 cents) in December 2024 and has determined to pay a further dividend of 10.5 cents per Ordinary share (prior year 10.25) in June 2025.

All dividends have been fully franked at 30% and 20% of their value has been attributed to LIC Discount Capital Gains, entitling eligible shareholders to an additional tax deduction representing the associated CGT discount.

The annualised current dividend amounts to 5.7% of the year-end share price (inclusive of franking credits).

Whitefield Industrials currently seeks to distribute dividends representing its operating profit after tax as well as the average level of realised capital gains. (Unrealised capital gains are retained within the investment portfolio and may be evident in growth in the company's net asset backing.)

As the accompanying chart of dividends illustrates, Whitefield Industrials has progressively increased its dividend over time, reflecting growth in the earnings of the company's underlying investments. As a company that can retain profit, Whitefield has also been able to smooth its own dividends to shareholders, providing investors with consistency of income flow.

Net Asset Backing

The company's net asset backing per share (before providing for deferred capital gains tax) amounted to $6.04 at 31 March 2025 compared to $5.86 one year earlier.

Movements in the asset backing across the last year are shown below. The net asset backing (before providing for deferred capital gains tax) for each of the company's ordinary shares amounted to $5.86 at 31 March 2024 compared to $5.13 at the same time one year ago.

Whitefield Industrials' net asset backing increases over time when it retains either profit or realised gains or when the capital value of its investment portfolio rises due to unrealised capital gains. This uplift in asset value can be an important contributor to the total investment return received by a shareholder.

The chart below shows movements in the company's asset backing (before deferred tax) over time.

Investment Exposures

Whitefield Industrials aims to provide investors with a broad exposure to the Australian industrial economy through a diverse portfolio of ASX listed companies and trusts from the S&P/ASX200 Industrials universe.

There are two important strategic elements that underpin Whitefield Industrials' portfolio:

- A market capitalisation weighted portfolio structure. Successful companies that are larger contributors to the Australian economy will typically be larger holdings within the investment portfolio.
- An added emphasis towards companies and sectors we consider will generate stronger returns as a consequence of their future earning capacity relative to their share price and an emphasis away from companies whose future earnings are likely to provide an inadequate rate of investment return.

These elements are designed to provide investors with the potential for portfolio outperformance compared to the benchmark index with a limited risk of material underperformance.

Whitefield Industrials Ltd SECTORAL EXPOSURES At 31 March 2025

At year end Whitefield's portfolio contained the following sectoral tilts relative to the ASX200 Industrial Benchmark:

- Overweight exposures to non-bank financials, industrials, consumer staples and discretionary, and real estate.
- Underweight exposures to banks, healthcare, communication services, technology and materials.

Whitefield Industrials Ltd NET SECTORAL OVER/UNDER WEIGHT At 31 March 2025

Long Term Value Creation for Shareholders

Whitefield Industrials has generated many decades of investment portfolio performance at levels that are either similar to or in excess of the company's benchmark index.

The total investment returns generated over the last 40 years have also been particularly robust – reflecting the strength of the Australian economy and the ability for the income and capital values of the Australian industrial share market to respond positively to population growth, inflation and productivity.

Importantly, the longevity of Whitefield Industrials has provided many of our shareholders with the significant benefits of long term compound growth without the costs and risks of having to repeatedly change their investment.

Outlook

Notwithstanding the recent gyrations in international investment markets, domestic Australian economic activity remains moderately firm.

Government spending in an election year and ongoing capital development in the healthcare, education and infrastructure sectors are broadly supportive for the economy. Demand for residential construction and associated social infrastructure are particularly strong.

High levels of employment, continuing wages growth, an easing in headline inflation and lower official interest rates are improving the outlook for consumer demand. Business services, financial services, telecommunications and technology activity – which are dependent on the wellbeing of consumers and business are in turn reflecting this positive outlook.

Nevertheless, recent policies announced by the Trump Administration in the US are destabilising for not only the USA but also the global economy. Significant cuts to US government spending, the introduction of widespread tariffs on imports and the rapid raising, lowering and adjustment of those policies are disruptive actions in the short term, as it is difficult for individuals and businesses to make spending decisions in the face of uncertain environments.

Adjustments to global trade relations and enhancements to government efficiencies are understandable objectives. Nevertheless, in the near term these actions are most likely to result in higher costs for US consumers and businesses, lower US employment and a downturn in US economic activity. Some slowing in the economies of the major European and Asian exporters to the US are a further consequence and this may have an impact on those regions' demand for Australian resource commodities.

Apart from this, the Australian economy is moderately insulated from many of these US-centric developments. This domestic resilience is an important reminder of the long-term merits of the comparatively politically stable, affluent and high population growth Australian industrial economy in which Whitefield Industrials invests.

The actions of the Trump Administration have undoubtedly created much global debate and contributed to market volatility, yet these policies have also been subject to rapid subsequent adjustments. While the uncertainty created may linger, we believe it is important to remain focused on the outlook for the Australian market, the Australian economy and the investment opportunities that may emerge over the upcoming year.

We will look forward to reporting to shareholders as our 2026 financial year progresses.

1 General information

Whitefield Industrials Limited (the "Company") is a listed public company domiciled in Australia. The address of Whitefield Industrials Limited's registered office is Suite 19.01 Level 19, 68 Pitt Street, Sydney, NSW, 2000. The financial statements of Whitefield Industrials Limited are for the year ended 31 March 2025. The Company is primarily involved in making investments, and deriving investment income from listed securities and unit trusts in Australia.

2 Financial risk management

The Company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including interest rate risk and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company uses different methods to measure the risk to which it is exposed. These methods include sensitivity analysis in the case of market risks, and ratings agency analysis for credit risk.

(a) Market risk

AASB 7 Financial Instruments: Disclosures defines this as the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices.

(i) Price risk

The Company is exposed to equity securities price risk. This arises from investments held by the Company and classified in the Statement of Financial Position as financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income.

The Company's investment portfolio is spread across the following sectors:

Sector	2025 (%)	2024 (%)
Information technology	3.54	3.11
Banks	30.06	28.17
Non-bank financials	12.23	12.24
Healthcare and biotechnology	11.28	12.07
Consumer staples	4.97	5.84
Industrials	10.51	9.61
Consumer discretionary	10.36	10.56
Utilities	1.86	1.60
Materials	1.98	2.73
Telecommunications services	4.39	4.40
Real estate	8.82	9.67
Total	100.00	100.00

Securities representing over 5 per cent of the investment portfolio at 31 March 2025 were:

	2025 %
Commonwealth Bank of Australia	13.84
CSL Ltd	6.13
Westpac Banking Corp	5.76
National Australia Bank Ltd	5.46
	31.19

2 Financial risk management (continued)

Securities representing over 5 per cent of the investment portfolio at 31 March 2024 were:

	2024 %
Commonwealth Bank of Australia	11.40
CSL Ltd	7.56
National Australia Bank Ltd	6.03
ANZ Banking Group Ltd	5.13
Westpac Banking Corporation	5.10
	35.22

The following table illustrates the effect on the Company's equity should there be a general fall in market prices of 10 per cent and 30 per cent, assuming a flat tax rate of 30 per cent:

	Impact on equity
	2025	2024
A hypothetical fall in market prices by 10%	(50,143,785)	(49,326,472)
A hypothetical fall in market prices by 30%	(150,431,357)	(147,979,417)

(ii) Cash flow and fair value interest rate risk

During the year, the Company conducted an on-market buy-back of its CRPS shares. All CRPS shares remaining at the conclusion of the buy-back offer period were converted into ordinary shares in the Company on 30 November 2024.

The Company's Convertible Resettable Preference Shares (CRPS) were subject to fixed interest rates and were carried at amortised cost. They were therefore not subject to interest rate risk as defined in AASB 7, since neither the carrying amount nor the future cash flows would fluctuate because of a change in market interest rates.

(b) Credit risk

AASB 7 defines this as the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation.

The maximum exposure to credit risk, excluding the value of any collateral or other security, at balance date to recognised financial assets, is the carrying amount, net of any provisions for impairment of those assets, as disclosed in the Statement of Financial Position and Notes to the Financial Statements.

None of these assets are over-due or considered to be impaired.

(c) Liquidity risk

AASB 7 defines this as the risk that an entity will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities.

The Investment Manager monitors its cash-flow requirements daily taking into account upcoming dividends, tax payments, expenses and investing activity.

The Company's inward cash flows depend upon the level of dividend and distribution revenue received and sales of investments. Because the Company's investments are liquid and readily tradeable, the Company has the ability to manage its total cash inflows. The Company's major cash outflows are the purchase of securities and dividends paid to shareholders. The level of both of these is managed by the Board and Investment Manager.

Maturities of financial liabilities

With the exception of the CRPS (which the Company elected not to renew for a further term at the reset date in November 2024), the other financial liabilities of the Company in the current and prior year have maturities of less than one month.

3 Fair value measurements

The Company measures and recognises the following assets at fair value on a recurring basis:

- Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI)

The Company has no assets or liabilities measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis in the current reporting period.

(a) Fair value hierarchy

AASB 13 Fair Value Measurement requires disclosure of fair value measurements by level of the following fair value measurement hierarchy (consistent with the hierarchy applied to financial assets and financial liabilities):

- (a) quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (level 1);
- (b) inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly (level 2); and
- (c) inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs) (level 3).

(i) Recognised fair value measurements

The following table presents the Company's assets and liabilities measured and recognised at fair value and the valuation input levels utilised in accordance with AASB 13.

The Company's policy is to recognise transfers into and transfers out of fair value hierarchy levels as at the end of the reporting period.

(ii) Disclosed fair values

At the previous balance date, the Company also had Convertible Resettable Preference Shares (CRPS) which were not measured at fair value within the Statement of Financial Position. The fair value is shown below and represents the market value at balance sheet date less the dividend separately provided. The Company had no CRPS shares at 31 March 2025 (refer note 10).

Details of the carrying amount and fair value are shown below.

	$	$
Carrying amount	-	25,385,602
Fair value	-	24,431,950

For all financial instruments other than those measured at fair value or otherwise disclosed above, their carrying value approximates fair value.

The carrying amounts of trade and other receivables and payables are assumed to approximate their fair values due to their short-term nature.

Convertible Resettable Preference Shares - current	-	25,385,602

As at 31 March 2025, the number of Convertible Resettable Preference Shares on issue was Nil (31 March 2024: 249,956). During the year, 115,573 WHFPB shares with a face value of $115,573,000 were bought-back by the Company for a total consideration of $11,676,743 and the remaining 134,383 WHFPB shares were converted into 2,372,147 ordinary shares in Whitefield Industrials Limited at the conversion price of $5.66. Refer to the 'Term' below for details of the buy-back and conversion.

Convertible Resettable Preference Shares (CRPS) were non-cumulative, convertible, resettable, preference shares in the capital of Whitefield Industrials Limited. The key terms of the CRPS were:

CRPS Face Value: $100 per CRPS

Dividend Rate: Effective 1 December 2021, the CRPS were entitled to a non-cumulative fixed dividend of 3.75% x (1-Tax Rate) per annum which was expected to be fully franked.

Dividend payment: Dividends were non-cumulative and only payable where the directors determined that a dividend was payable and only to the extent permitted by law.

Dividend ranking: The CRPS would rank in priority to the Company's fully paid ordinary shares (Ordinary Shares) in respect of the payment of dividends on the CRPS but would rank behind the Company's 8% Preference Shares.

Resetting: On each reset date the Company could determine when resets were to take place in the future.

Conversion: The Company could convert CRPS into Ordinary Shares on any reset date and on occurrence of certain events. The CRPS holders could request the Company to convert the CRPS into Ordinary Shares on any reset date and on occurrence of certain holder triggers events. However, the Company could override conversion requests received from CRPS holders and instead redeem the CRPS.

Term: The term expired on 30 November 2024. On 21 October 2024 the Company announced that it would not be renewing the CRPSs for a further term and notified holders that the Company would exercise its option to convert all WHFPBs into Whitefield Industrials Limited ordinary shares ('WHF Ordinary shares') on 30 November 2024.

On 3 June 2024 the Company also announced its intention to conduct an on-market buy-back ('buy-back') of its WHFPBs during the period commencing 17 June 2024 and concluding on 26 November 2024. Under the buy-back, WHFPB holders were provided with the opportunity to sell their WHFPB shares at their market price on the ASX prior to their last trading day of 26 November 2024. A shareholder who sold their shares were no longer eligible for the dividend for the period ended 30 November 2024.

The WHFPB holders could continue to sell their WHFPB shares under the buy-back prior to 26 November 2024.

WHFPBs remaining on issue at 30 November 2024 were converted into an equivalent market value of ordinary shares in Whitefield Industrials Limited.

A WHFPB holder on 30 November 2024 was entitled to their dividend for the 6 months ended 30 November 2024.

Redemption: The Company could redeem the CRPS on any reset date and on the occurrence if certain trigger events. CRPS holders could not seek to have the CRPS redeemed. Redemption was for the face value of the CRPS which is $100.

Voting rights: CRPS holders were only entitled to vote on certain limited matters such as a proposal that affects the rights of CRPS holders or for the disposal of the whole of the property, business and undertaking of Whitefield Industrials Limited. However this restriction on voting did not apply when a dividend was not paid in full on the CRPS or during a winding up of the Company.

Return of capital: The face value of the CRPS and due but unpaid dividends on them would rank upon a winding-up of the Company after the 8% Preference Shares and in priority to Ordinary Shares. The CRPS had no right to participate in the surplus assets or profits of the Company on a winding-up other than as set out above.

23 Summary of significant accounting policies

The principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of these financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated. The financial statements are for the entity Whitefield Industrials Limited.

(a) Basis of preparation

These general purpose financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and Interpretations issued by the Australian Accounting Standards Board and the Corporations Act 2001. Whitefield Industrials Limited is a for-profit entity for the purpose of preparing the financial statements.

The financial statements were authorised for issue by the directors on 20 May 2025.

(i) Compliance with IFRS

The financial statements of the Company also comply with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB).

(ii) New and amended standards adopted by the Company

There are no standards, interpretations or amendments to existing standards that are effective for the first time for the financial year beginning 1 April 2024 that have a material impact on the amounts recognised in the prior periods or will affect the current or future periods.

(iii) Historical cost convention

These financial statements have been prepared under the accruals basis and are based on historical cost convention, as modified by the revaluation of financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income.

(iv) New standards and interpretations not yet adopted

There are no standards that are not yet effective and that would be expected to have a material impact on the entity in the current or future reporting periods and on foreseeable future transactions.

(b) Revenue recognition

(i) Dividends and trust distributions

Dividends and trust distributions are recognised as revenue when the right to receive payment is established.

(ii) Interest income

Interest income is recognised using the effective interest method.

(c) Income tax

The income tax expense or revenue for the period is the tax payable on the current period's taxable income based on the applicable income tax rate for each jurisdiction adjusted by changes in deferred tax assets and liabilities attributable to temporary differences and to unused tax losses.

The current income tax charge is calculated on the basis of the tax laws enacted or substantially enacted at the end of the reporting period. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulation is subject to interpretation. It establishes provisions where appropriate on the basis of amounts expected to be paid to the tax authorities.

Deferred income tax is provided in full, using the liability method, on temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the financial statements. Deferred income tax is also not accounted for if it arises from initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction other than a business combination that at the time of the transaction affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss. Deferred income tax is determined using tax rates (and laws) that have been enacted or substantially enacted by the end of the reporting period and are expected to apply when the related deferred income tax asset is realised or the deferred income tax liability is settled.

Deferred tax assets are recognised for deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses only if it is probable that future taxable amounts will be available to utilise those temporary differences and losses.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets and liabilities and when the deferred tax balances relate to the same taxation authority. Current tax assets and tax liabilities are offset where the entity has a legally enforceable right to offset and intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

Current and deferred tax is recognised in profit or loss in the Statement of Comprehensive Income, except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity. In this case, the tax is also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

(d) Cash and cash equivalents

For the purpose of presentation in the Statement of Cash Flows, cash and cash equivalents includes cash on hand, deposits held at call with financial institutions, other short-term, highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

(e) Trade and other receivables

Trade and other receivables are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method, less provision for impairment. Trade and other receivables are generally due for settlement within 30 days. They are presented as current assets unless collection is not expected for more than 12 months after the reporting date.

Collectability of trade and other receivables is reviewed on an ongoing basis. Debts which are known to be uncollectible are written off by reducing the carrying amount directly.

(f) Investments and other financial assets

Classification

(i) Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income

The Company has classified long-term investments as at "fair value through other comprehensive income". All realised and unrealised gains or losses on long-term investments and tax thereon are presented in other comprehensive income as part of the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

Recognition and derecognition

Purchases and sales of financial assets are recognised on trade-date, the date on which the Company commits to purchase or sell the asset. Financial assets are derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the financial assets have expired or have been transferred and the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership.

Determination of Fair Value

AASB 13 Fair Value Measurement defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date in the principal, or in its absence, the most advantageous market to which the Company has access at that date. The fair value of a liability reflects its non-performance risk.

The Company uses the last sale price as the most representative basis of measuring fair value under AASB 13.

(f) Investments and other financial assets (continued)

Measurement

At initial recognition, the Company measures a financial asset at its fair value plus, in the case of a financial asset not at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset.

Subsequent changes in fair value are recognised through the investment portfolio revaluation reserve after deducting a provision for the potential deferred capital gains tax liability as these investments are long-term holdings of equity investments.

When an investment is disposed, the cumulative gain or loss, net of tax thereon, is transferred from the investment portfolio reserve/asset revaluation reserve to the realised gains/losses reserve.

(g) Other financial liabilities

Convertible Resettable Preference Shares are classified as a compound financial instrument consisting of a financial liability and an equity for accounting purposes under Australian Accounting Standard AASB132 Financial Instruments: Presentation. The liability is initially recognised at fair value less transaction costs. After initial recognition, the liability is carried at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

In accordance with this Standard, a financial expense on the liability is brought to account which includes the amortisation of any difference between the original proceeds net of transaction costs and the settlement value of the obligation. Dividends on Convertible Resettable Preference Shares are recognised as an allocation of retained profit, and a provision for the dividend is brought to account in each period.

(h) Trade and other payables

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Company prior to the end of financial year which are unpaid. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition. Trade and other payables are presented as current liabilities unless payment is not due within 12 months from the reporting date. They are recognised initially at their fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

(i) Finance costs

Finance costs are recognised as expenses in the year in which they are incurred using the effective interest rate method.

Dividends on Convertible Resettable Preference Shares are recognised as an allocation of retained profit, and a provision for the dividend is brought to account in each period.

(j) Issued capital

Ordinary and 8% Non-Redeemable Preference Shares are classified as equity.

Preference shares which are redeemable or convertible for a specified consideration are classified as liabilities.

Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of new shares are shown in equity as a deduction, net of tax, from the proceeds.

(k) Dividends

Provision is made for the amount of any ordinary dividend declared, being appropriately authorised and no longer at the discretion of the entity, on or before the end of the reporting period but not distributed at the end of the reporting period. Provision is made for CRPS dividend based on the specified dividend rate at each month end.

(l) Earnings per share

(i) Basic earnings per share

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing:

- the profit attributable to owners of the Company, excluding any costs of servicing equity other than ordinary shares, and
- by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the financial year, adjusted for bonus elements in ordinary shares issued during the year and excluding treasury shares.

(ii) Diluted earnings per share

Diluted earnings per share adjusts the figures used in the determination of basic earnings per share to take into account:

- the after income tax effect of interest and other financing costs associated with dilutive potential ordinary shares, and
- the weighted average number of additional ordinary shares that would have been outstanding assuming the conversion of all dilutive potential ordinary shares.

(m) Goods and Services Tax (GST)

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of associated GST, unless the GST incurred is not recoverable from the taxation authority. In this case it is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of the expense.

Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of the amount of GST receivable or payable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is included with other receivables or payables in the Statement of Financial Position.

Cash flows are presented on a gross basis. The GST components of cash flows arising from investing or financing activities which are recoverable from, or payable to the taxation authority, are presented as operating cash flows.

(n) Functional and presentation currency

The functional and presentation currency of the Company is Australian dollars.

(o) Comparatives

Where necessary, comparative information has been reclassified to be consistent with current reporting period.

(p) Operating segments

The Company operated in Australia only and the principal activity is investment. The Company has only one reportable segment and in one industry being the securities industry, deriving revenue from dividend income, interest income and from the sale of its investment portfolio.

Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of this financial report.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Australian Auditing Standards, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the directors.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial report or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial report, including the disclosures, and whether the financial report represents the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the financial report. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the Company audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with the directors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide the directors with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with the directors, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial report of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
