Echo IQ Limited ("the Company") made significant progress in the year ending 30 June 2024 in the advancement of clinical and commercial acceptance of its artificial intelligence ("AI") solution for aortic stenosis.

The Company will be featured in two late-breaking science presentations at the European Society of Echocardiography's 2024 ESC Congress in Amsterdam. A paid pilot with Australia's leading cardiology healthcare provider was undertaken and additional integration agreements with leading reporting software providers were also implemented.

On 6 June 2024, a leading US hospital group (Baylor Scott and White) presented the initial positive results of their experience using EchoSolv in their most accomplished heart hospital at the NY Valves scientific conference.

The Company completed its US Reader Study and subsequently submitted its application for FDA Clearance under the 510(k) pathway on 7 May 2024. A final response is anticipated by the end of the current quarter.

Heart Failure is a significant focus area for future product development. This condition is the world's leading cause of hospitalisation in those over 65 years of age. Echo IQ has developed a proprietary AI algorithm designed to improve detection of this global health condition.
