³ Investment returns have been calculated on the growth of Net Tangible Assets (NTA) after taking into account all operating expenses (including management costs) and assuming reinvestment of distributions on the ex-date. Distribution return has been calculated based on the PCI investment portfolio return less the growth of NTA. The Responsible Entity aims to pay distributions to investors monthly. For such distributions, the record date is generally the last ASX trading day of each month and the ex-date is one business day prior to the record date. The ex-date for the distribution period ending 31 July 2024 and 31 August 2024 was in August. Therefore, the 1 month distribution return for the PCI investment portfolio of 1.2% takes into account the distributions for the periods ending 31 July 2024 and 31 August 2024. Past performance is not indicative of future performance. Since inception return is from allotment on 8 May 2019. The comparison to the RBA Cash Rate is not intended to compare an investment in PCI to a cash holding. The PCI investment portfolio is of higher risk than an investment in cash.

⁴ Target Return is RBA Cash Rate + 3.25% p.a. (net of fees) through the economic cycle. This is a target only and may not be achieved.

Portfolio Update

The PCI investment portfolio returned 0.6% during August. The portfolio's running yield was 7.6% at month end, drawn from a diversified mix of assets led by non-financial corporates alongside banks, REITs, insurers and securitised sectors.

Volatility spiked in August with financial markets selling off sharply early before recovering over the remainder of the month. Softer than anticipated US jobs data and associated recession fears saw equities selloff and credit spreads widen globally. This was exacerbated by the Bank of Japan's decision to raise interest rates for the first time since the GFC. The turnaround in sentiment was swift however, supported by strong US retail sales and corporate earnings alongside doveish comments from Fed Chair Powell at the Jackson Hole conference. Bond yields moved lower as US recession fears spiked. Domestic 10-year yields fell below 4% after rallying 14bps over the month and the yield curve steepened.

Domestic credit spreads sold off in the first week of August before rallying to end the month within range of their starting level. Credit spread tightening contributed to the Trust's performance, primarily from overseas banks and REITs. Securitised sectors including RMBS and ABS also performed well.

During early September, a Term Loan with Star Entertainment held via the Perpetual Loan Fund was revalued after the Manager requested an out of cycle price review in recognition of ongoing liquidity concerns. Perpetual prioritises valuation transparency and regularly values private assets held in the Trust utilizing an external provider, IHS Markit (A subsidiary of S&P Global). Changes to the valuation of these assets are reflected in the daily NTA. We are working closely with the lender group and the company on a solution that provides additional lender protections.

The Trust's sector and risk allocations were adjusted during the month. The Trust added exposure to ABS by investing in a new securitisation deal backed by a portfolio of business loans to Australian medical, dental, veterinary and allied healthcare professionals. Offshore bank exposures were increased via participation in a new subordinated deal from Lloyds Banking Group. The new deal was well subscribed, pricing tighter than guidance and the Trust's existing Lloyds exposure benefited as the spread tightened.

The credit outlook continued to decline during August, ending the month with a firmly negative reading. The most substantial driver of the negative credit outlook is the supply and demand dynamics. There is a relatively low volume of upcoming maturities and elevated expected primary issuance volumes in the pipeline, both of which put upward pressure on spreads.

Risk management is paramount in these conditions and the Manager remains selective in adding new issues to the Trust's portfolio. The Trust's cash allocation was slightly elevated at month end following the completion of the Unit Purchase Plan. The portfolio remains defensively positioned and retains the capacity to take advantage of relative value opportunities as they arise.

Investment objective

To provide investors with monthly income by investing in a diversified pool of credit and fixed income assets.

Target return

To target a total return of RBA Cash Rate plus 3.25% p.a. (net of fees) through the economic cycle. This is a target only and may not be achieved.
