A copy of the remuneration and nomination committee charter is available on the Company’s website.

8.2 A listed entity should separately disclose the remuneration of non-executive directors and the remuneration of executive directors and other senior executives.

Complies

The Company’s Remuneration Report within its FY22 Annual Report sets out the separate policies and practices for the remuneration of non-executive directors, executive directors and senior executives.

Megaport’s director remuneration policy is to provide fair remuneration that is sufficient to attract and retain non-executive directors with experience, knowledge, skills and judgment. To preserve independence and impartiality, non-executive directors do not receive incentive or performance-based remuneration. For the same reason, equity-based remuneration is limited to non-performance-based incentives. Fixed director fees reflect the time commitment and responsibilities for the role. Non-executive directors are not entitled to any retirement benefit schemes other than statutory superannuation contributions.

Non-executive directors may be paid additional remuneration where they perform extra work or services beyond that expected of a non-executive director or outside the scope of their role as a non-executive director. Non-executive directors are also entitled to be reimbursed for travel and other expenses incurred while carrying out their duties as a director.

The senior executive remuneration policy is designed to strengthen the alignment between performance-related remuneration and shareholder returns, ensuring that remuneration outcomes for senior executives are directly linked to performance (both Company and individual) in a manner that is ultimately aligned to shareholder interest. Megaport’s remuneration framework aims to be transparent, competitive and reasonable, and consists of three key components:

- fixed remuneration;
- short term incentives; and
- long term incentives.

Executives are offered a competitive base remuneration package that comprises the fixed component of remuneration and rewards. Base remuneration for executives is reviewed annually, to ensure the executive’s remuneration is competitive with the market and to take account of the Company’s obligations at law and the global scale of the Company’s business.

Base remuneration reflects core performance requirements and expectations. An executive's remuneration is also reviewed on promotion.

Senior executives may be eligible for a short-term incentive, subject to clearly specified targets set by the remuneration and nomination committee. The targets are set with the objective of ensuring variable reward is only available when value has been created for shareholders. An executive's targets typically relate to the individual accountabilities of the role and the financial performance of the Company and relevant business unit.

Senior executives may also be eligible to participate in the Company's long-term incentive schemes, under which they are entitled to receive share options or restricted stock units, subject to minimum service conditions. Senior executive grants are linked (wholly or partially) to satisfactory achievement of performance hurdles in addition to minimum service conditions. No senior executive is entitled to a termination payment for removal for misconduct.

No director or senior executive is involved directly in deciding their own remuneration.

8.3 A listed entity which has an equity-based remuneration scheme, should:
