About ESG

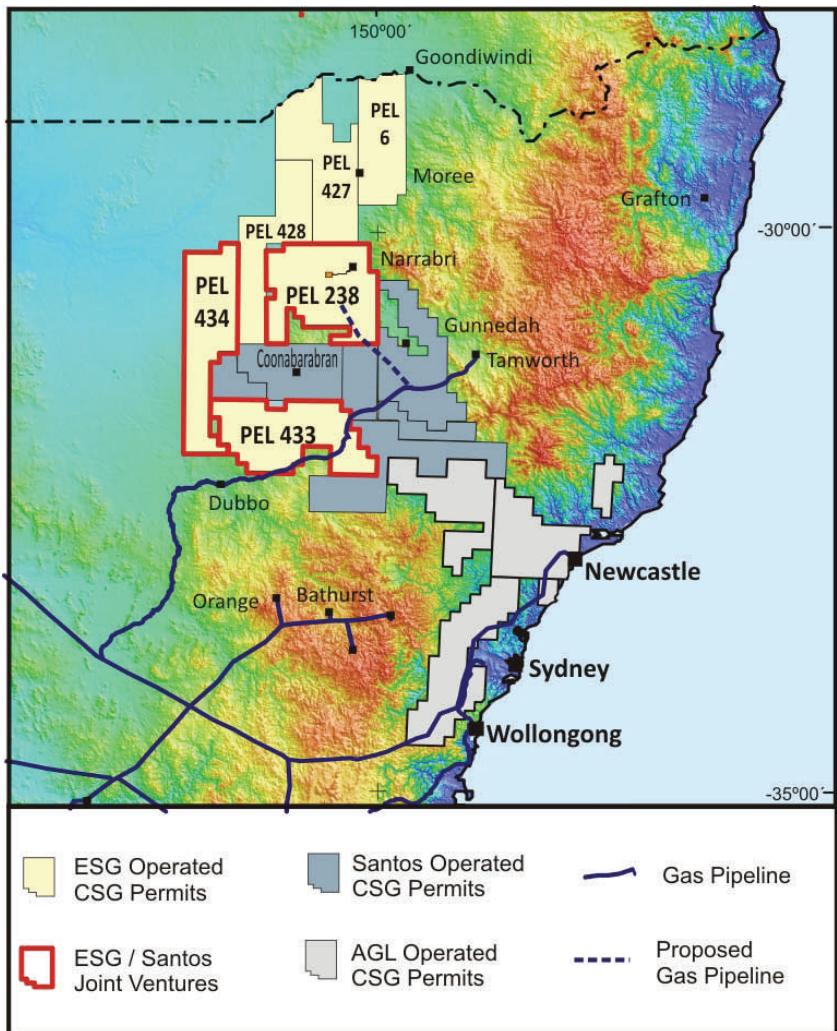

Eastern Star Gas (ASX:ESG OTCQX:ESGLY), is focused on exploration, development and production of coal seam gas in Australia.

The Company's main activity, the Narrabri Coal Seam Gas Project, is located in Petroleum Exploration Licence 238 adjacent to the township of Narrabri in the state of New South Wales Australia. ESG holds a 65.0% interest in the PEL 238 and is the Operator. The remaining 35% interest is held by Santos Limited (ASX: STO). PEL 238 covers 7,920 kms² (1.96 million acres) of the Gunnedah Basin, the most lightly explored portion of the Bowen-Gunnedah-Sydney Basin complex which presently supplies a large proportion of Australia's coal seam gas production. Production testing is underway at four locations; the Bubblewindi vertical pilot, Bubblewindi multi-lateral pilot, Bubblewindi West and Bohena vertical pilot. As at 31 December 2009, certified 2P reserves increased by 152% to 1520 PJ (of which ESG's net interest is 988 PJ). The updated gas reserves estimate takes into account the flow testing of the multi-lateral production pilots at Bubblewindi and Bubblewindi West, and outstanding results from coreholes and appraisal vertical wells drilled across the Dewhurst area. At the same time certified 3P reserves increased by 43% to 2,797 PJ (of which ESG's net interest is 1,818 PJ).

Further upgrading of reserves will take place during 2010 in PEL238 through an ongoing corehole programme and production from multi-lateral production pilots, including new pilots to be brought on line Dewhurst and Tintsfield. Like the Bubblewindi multi-lateral pilots, the new pilots will incorporate in-seam, or horizontal wells with a length of around 750 - 1,000m (up to 3,300 feet) drilled perpendicular to the fracture system of the target coal seams. This well design maximises connectivity with the coal, resulting in many times greater flow rates than can be achieved from vertical, fracture-stimulated wells.

Test gas from the production pilots is delivered by flowline to the joint venture's Wilga Park Power Station which will be expanded to take pilot production test gas. Arrangements are also being developed for full scale commercialisation of the Narrabri CSG Project. In particular, ESG is finalising terms for supply of 20 PJ/a of gas to ERM Power for use in a power station approved for development at Wellington (south of Narrabri) and is, with the Hitachi and Toyo Engineering Corporations, completing a detailed investigation into the feasibility of exporting liquefied natural gas (NLNG) from Newcastle. NLNG exports could commence as early as 2014 at an initial level of 1 Mtpa. Over and above these key near-term pursuits, ESG also has in place MoU's for the supply of gas to Macquarie Generation (up to 500 PJ) and to Babcock & Brown (up to 40 PJ/a), in both cases for use in gas fuelled power station developments.
