TROY PROVIDES FUNDING TO AZIMUTH PURSUANT TO CONVERTIBLE NOTE FACILITY

Perth, Western Australia: Profitable gold producer Troy Resources Limited (ASX, TSX: TRY) advises that it has advanced A$10 million to Azimuth Resources Limited pursuant to the Convertible Note Facility (the Facility) entered into between the parties.

The Facility forms part of the funding arrangements associated with the recommended off-market takeover offer that Troy has made for Azimuth. Proceeds from the Facility will be used by Azimuth to advance infill drilling at its West Omai Project and provide working capital to progress engineering and other studies.

Commenting on the announcement, Troy's CEO, Paul Benson, said: "We are pleased to be able to provide this funding to Azimuth to enable it to continue to advance activities at the West Omai Project during the period that the takeover offer is open. The key focus over coming months will be to complete infill drilling to enable Resources to be upgraded from Inferred to Indicated on a Stage 1 Pit. At this stage Azimuth expect to be able to release its first Indicated Resource, that would support a Probable Reserve, in September."

We invite Troy shareholders to learn more about Azimuth's assets and the exciting exploration potential on their significant land holding in Guyana by watching their latest video about their West Omai Project which can be found on the Troy website at <http://www.troyres.com.au/media-centre/webcasts.html>

Further information about the offer is currently being finalised and we expect to post it out to shareholders on or around the end of April 2013."
