OPUS Group Limited "OPUS" (ASX: OPG) today announced it had entered into a strategic alliance with Tilt & Co (www.tiltandco.com), an Australian company specialising in design and technology for mobile touchscreens.

This new partnership will allow OPUS Group to provide mobile touchscreen content design and delivery services to customers across the Asia Pacific market.

Cliff Brigstocke, OPUS Group CEO said: "This partnership is an important strategic step for OPUS because it greatly extends our digital content offering into the fastest growing channel, which is smartphones and tablets.

"It will enhance our proprietary digital content delivery offering via IPALM™ to professional, educational and trade publishers and government departments.

"This complements our existing partnership with MTC in the Philippines to produce a range of document processing solutions, including eBooks and ePubs for major publishers."

Stu Cameron, Managing Director of Tilt & Co said: "We are helping industry and government to transition to digital channels in ways that reflect the changes in human behaviour that have occurred over the last few years since the advent of the smartphone and the digital tablet.
