Project awarded to Artemis Building Systems and Stowe Australia

A joint venture between Artemis Building Systems (ABS) and Stowe Electronic Australia has been awarded the contract to design and supply a 43kWatt photovoltaic solar panel system for the roof of Sydney's historic Town Hall.

The project will be utilising panels supplied by Suntech-Power, a world leading supplier of solar products.

ABS is a wholly owned subsidiary of AFT Corporation Ltd and specialises in the supply and design of building integrated photovoltaic systems and pv products.

Stowe Electronic Australia Pty Ltd is a leading Australian, privately owned electrical and communications contractor.
