Auckland Airport responds to Commerce Commission draft determination for its Input Methodologies Review

Auckland Airport is currently reviewing the Commerce Commission's draft determination on cost of capital announced today for its Input Methodologies (IM) Review and we will be submitting a response to the draft determination in due course.

We will await the Commission's final decision in December this year on cost of capital, along with the Commission's review of our pricing decision which is expected in early 2024, before commenting further on pricing for Price Setting Event four (PSE4).
