French Government to Deliver Sillinger RIBs to Libya

Future Mobility System (NZX:FMS) today announced that its subsidiary, S.A.S. Sillinger, is to deliver six fast semi rigid boats to Libya to assist the fight against illegal immigration. The boats are scheduled to be delivered in 2020.

The French Minister of Defence, Florence Parly, made the announcement following a recent meeting with Libyan Prime Minister Fayed al-Sarraj.

The French government will buy the boats from Sillinger as part of their support for the Libyan navy's efforts to fight illegal immigration.

FMS holds a 70% stake in S.A.S. Sillinger. The company was founded in France over 50 years ago and has an established brand, the success of which has been built on meeting the demanding needs of the intervention and security markets.
