MARKET UPDATE

Sale of Urgent Technology

Techniche Limited (ASX: TCN) advises that, further to its recent market announcement (on 8 November 2016), the non-binding proposal to sell the Company's Urgent Technology business will not proceed and has been terminated by mutual agreement of the parties.

The counterparty, a leading provider of software and services to the retail and petroleum industries, and Techniche have agreed to pursue discussions regarding a strategic partnership.

Commenting on the development, Techniche's Chief Executive Officer Mr. David Nelson said:

"The sale proposal was an unplanned opportunity that validated the significant work that has been done over the past twelve months to drive the transformation and turnaround of the Urgent business. On the basis of constructive discussions over the past month both parties have determined that the best path forward was via a partnership arrangement."

We are excited to continue to accelerate the growth in Urgent both independently and through a growing network of partners that will ultimately provide a more robust, profitable and scalable business model. We expect our financial results in the second half of FY17 to demonstrate progress towards these goals."

On behalf of the Board.

Company Secretary
