Envirosuite raises A$10.5 million to accelerate EVS Water

KEY HIGHLIGHTS

- Placement attracted strong demand from both existing and new institutional investors
- Funding will be used to accelerate Envirosuite's investment into growing sales in the high-margin EVS Water business to support accelerated incremental growth in the next 12 months
- The Placement raised ~ A$10.5 million at an Offer Price of A$0.20 per New Share

Envirosuite Limited (ASX:EVS) ("Envirosuite" or the "Company") is pleased to announce the successful completion of an institutional placement ("Placement") of new ordinary shares in Envirosuite ("New Shares") to expedite the growth of the EVS Water business.

Wilsons Corporate Finance Limited and Bell Potter Securities Limited acted as Joint Lead Managers to the Placement.

The Placement closed on Thursday, 2 December 2021, raising approximately A$10.5 million. The Offer Price was A$0.20 per New Share.

Proceeds of the Placement, will fund plans to accelerate Envirosuite's investment into growing incremental sales in the high-margin EVS Water business to support its growth in the next 12 months. With strong market interest and validation of the EVS Water portfolio, with clients such as Water Corporation, a desalination plant in Asia and the recently announced GHD strategic agreements, the raising will support:

- Investment into further growing the direct sales team focusing on the Optimiser and SeweX products
- Additional product and technical roles to support growth and future development requirements
- Creation of further strategic partnerships to support implementation and success for this portfolio.

Envirosuite Chief Executive Officer, Jason Cooper, said:

“This capital raising is about growth. The EVS Water business is on the cusp of a tremendous market opportunity as the benefits from our Environmental Intelligence technology platform are recognised more and more by Governments and corporates seeking to improve the well-being of their citizens and customers, and by key global industry service providers like GHD who recognise the benefits of our products. We are tooling up to meet that opportunity.

That we have been able to raise capital in a highly sought-after Placement at a materially superior price than the previous tranche of growth funding is indicative of the trajectory of the business and investors’ appreciation of the opportunity that lies before us”.

The Placement comprised the issue of approximately 52.3 million New Shares. The New Shares subscribed for under the Placement are expected to settle on Friday, 10 December 2021, with allotment and normal trading on ASX to commence on Monday, 13 December 2021. New Shares issued under the Placement will rank equally with existing Envirosuite shares on issue. The Placement was undertaken within EVS’ existing placement capacity under ASX Listing Rule 7.1.

Further Information:

Further details of the Placement are set out in the Investor Presentation lodged on ASX on Friday, 3 December 2021. The Investor Presentation contains important information including key risks and foreign offer restrictions with respect to the Placement. Key Risks

Key Business Risks

Customer contract risk

Envirosuite's revenue is dependent on the arrangements it enters into with its customers. Envirosuite cannot be assured that a customer will re-engage Envirosuite on future projects or services once the project is completed or that the customer will not unilaterally reduce the scope of, or terminate, existing contracts on short-term notice (generally 30 days, but sometimes less). The duration of customer agreements and ability for customers to terminate arrangements in certain circumstances may expose the Company to greater risk in respect of the continued retention of customers and ability to maintain a sustained customer base and associated revenue.

Some customer contracts may be limited in nature and may not contain adequate protections for the services and products which Envirosuite provides. This may result in an increased risk to Envirosuite, for example, if a counterparty or third-party claims against it.

In addition, a customer's inability to pay its accounts when they fall due, or inability to continue purchasing services or products from Envirosuite due to financial distress, may expose Envirosuite to adverse financial outcomes arising from the customer credit risks.

Customer projects

Some of Envirosuite's revenue model is driven by project demands of customers and can be unpredictable throughout any financial year due to the timing of projects, length of sales cycles and the product-release cycles of Envirosuite's clients. Revenues may be impacted from quarter to quarter, and year to year depending on customer demand or on the completion rate of projects. Recently, Covid-19 has impacted the ability of some customers to commission projects in the timeframe originally committed, a consequence of which may be the delay by Envirosuite in receipt of the revenue for such projects.

Foreign exchange

Envirosuite's financial reports are prepared in Australian dollars. However, a substantial proportion of Envirosuite's sales revenue, expenditures and cash flows are generated in, and assets and liabilities are denominated in, foreign currencies. Any adverse movements of these currencies against the Australian dollar as well as other adverse exchange rate fluctuations or volatility, particularly during the period between when an invoice is issued and when payment is made, can have an adverse effect on Envirosuite's future financial performance and position.

Impact of changing technology on Envirosuite's competitive position

Envirosuite's businesses are significantly influenced by changing technology, evolving industry standards and the emergence of new technologies. These changes can impact the ways in which the Envirosuite offers its services. In order to remain competitive and relevant, Envirosuite needs to enhance and expand its offering to meet their customers' needs. If Envirosuite is unable to do so, it may impact on its competitive position.

Trade secrets

Envirosuite relies upon its staff protecting Envirosuite's trade secrets. The protective measures Envirosuite employs may not always be sufficient to protect its trade secrets. If Envirosuite's trade secrets become public, this could erode its competitive advantage. Envirosuite also cannot be certain that others will not independently develop similar technologies on their own, or gain access to trade secrets, or have disclosed to them such technology, or that Envirosuite will otherwise be able to meaningfully protect its trade secrets and unpatented know-how and keep them secret. This could allow competitors to commercialise products and services that compete with Envirosuite. Although Envirosuite implements reasonable endeavours to protect its intellectual property, these measures may not always be sufficient.

Key person risk

The successful operation of Envirosuite's business relies on its ability to retain experienced and high performing key management and operating personnel with Envirosuite. Envirosuite may not successfully retain existing, and / or attract new, key management personnel. The unexpected loss of any key members of management or operating personnel may have a material adverse effect on the financial performance of Envirosuite.

Brand and reputational risk

The reputation and branding of Envirosuite is an important factor for its success. Anything that diminishes Envirosuite's reputation or brand would likely be adverse to Envirosuite and may diminish the demand for Envirosuite's services thereby detrimentally affecting Envirosuite's profitability and prospects for growth.

Competition and future business performance

Envirosuite operates in a competitive industry. Envirosuite competes on the basis of a number of factors, including the quality of its services and products, reputation and price. However, there is no assurance that competitors will not succeed in offering services or products that are more economic or otherwise more than those being offered by Envirosuite.

An increase in competition could result in Envirosuite experiencing a decline in its ability to attract or retain customers and a loss of market share – which in turn may impact the growth of Envirosuite or expose it to lower than anticipated revenue and earnings. More broadly, there is no guarantee as to the future performance of Envirosuite and there is a risk that Envirosuite will not execute or deliver on its sales strategy in the future. Failure to successfully implement this strategy could result in adverse consequences for Envirosuite's financial performance, condition and prospects.

Intellectual property

The ability of Envirosuite to leverage its innovation and expertise depends on its ability to protect its intellectual property and any improvements to it as well as Envirosuite's confidential information. Intellectual property that is important to Envirosuite includes, but is not limited to, copyright in its software, know how, trademarks, domain names, its website and webpages, business names and logos. Envirosuite relies on contractual arrangements and laws regulating intellectual property to assist in protecting its intellectual property. However, such intellectual property may not always be capable of being legally protected. It may be the subject of unauthorised disclosure or unlawfully infringed, or Envirosuite may incur substantial costs in asserting or defending its intellectual property rights or protecting its confidential information.

Data management, privacy and cyber security risks

Information technology, and the continued and efficient operation of that technology, is essential to Envirosuite's business. Threats to information security are constantly evolving and techniques used to perpetrate cyber-attacks are increasingly sophisticated. As such, Envirosuite may be subject to network and systems interference from a number of sources, such as cyber-attacks, security breaches or system defects, which could result in commercial, financial, health and safety, environmental or reputational impacts. The potential consequences of such interference include operational downtime, delays, destruction or corruption of data, disclosure of commercially sensitive information, data and privacy breaches or a breach of regulatory compliance obligations.

While Envirosuite has disaster recovery and business continuity plans in place, such interference could have a material impact on Envirosuite's business, operations or financial condition and performance. The protection of customer, employee, third-party and company data is also critical of Envirosuite's operations and failure to protect such data could damage its reputation.

Key Risks

New product development risk

Envirosuite may from time to time seek to develop new products to enhance its business and operations. This may require a material amount of capital, time, resources and various approvals – the combination of which could materially delay or derail a successful product development. There is also no guarantee as to the success and performance of a new developed product (into which such time, money and resources have been invested).

Customer Concentration Risk

Envirosuite generates approximately 1/3 of its revenue from its top 5 customers and approximately 20% of its revenue from the Australian government and companies controlled by the Australian government (based on results for FY21 ending on 30 June 2021). A loss of or reduced scope within a key customer contract could have a material negative impact to the Group’s revenue and cashflow.

Research and development activities

Envirosuite also engages in a range of research and development initiatives. Research requires expenditure of materials, services, labour and time as well as potential opportunity costs. These initiatives are inherently speculative in nature and there is no guarantee that Envirosuite’s investment in these initiatives will be able to be commercialised or generate any future benefits for Envirosuite. In addition, Envirosuite’s eligibility for tax incentives associated with research and development activities is subject to changes in regulation (and interpretation of regulation).

Recent and future acquisitions & integration

In undertaking its business, from time to time Envirosuite may pursue strategic acquisitions and other growth initiatives. To finance such future acquisitions, Envirosuite may incur additional indebtedness and may seek to raise capital. Such actions and the terms on which such funding could be obtained may have a material adverse impact on Envirosuite’s financial position.

To the extent Envirosuite grows through acquisition, it will face operational and financial risks commonly encountered with such a strategy, including but not limited to continuity or assimilation of the operations and personnel of the acquired business, dissipation of Envirosuite’s management resources and impairment of relationships with employees and customers of the acquired business as a result of changes in ownership and management. In addition, depending on the type of transaction, it may take a substantial period of time to completely realise an acquisitions full benefit, or it may never be realised.

It may also be possible that any due diligence enquiries conducted by Envirosuite may not identify one or more material issues or liabilities or they may be more than expected, and that the standard protections negotiated by Envirosuite prior to the relevant acquisition are inadequate in the circumstances. Such issues or liabilities could adversely affect Envirosuite’s financial performance and position and future prospects.

Risk management strategy

Envirosuite has risk management strategies and internal controls in place to identify, monitor and mitigate risks to which it is subject, including market risk, strategic risk and operational risk. However there are inherent limitations with any risk management framework as the nature and scope of risks continue to evolve (and in some cases, in an unpredictable way). If Envirosuite’s risk management processes and procedures are ineffective or not appropriately implemented, Envirosuite could suffer unexpected losses and reputation damage which could impact its financial performance and condition.

COVID-19

Envirosuite generates approximately 65% of its revenue from customers in the Airports sector (based on results for FY21 ending on 30 June 2021). The COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in a material reduction in airline traffic which has impacted the revenue generated by Airports. As the reduction in airline traffic continues, there is a risk that reduced scope of services could impact Envirosuite’s revenue.

Changes to regulatory framework

Envirosuite must comply with a range of Commonwealth, State and Territory laws and regulations in its operations, many of which are complex and subject to change. There is a risk that when regulatory restrictions change, they become more burdensome. If this occurs, Envirosuite may be required to dedicate more time and resources to ensuring that it complies with these regulations, which could adversely affect its financial performance and future prospects. Failure to comply with these regulations may result in compliance orders being issued against Envirosuite and associated reputational damage.

Foreign operations

Envirosuite also conducts business in a number of jurisdictions and is subject to the risks specific to those jurisdictions. Envirosuite’s financial performance may be negatively impacted by changes in general business and operating conditions, laws, regulations or policies associated with a jurisdiction in which it operates from time to time.

Insurance

Envirosuite holds insurance policies for material risks faced by the business at levels at which it considers are commensurate with industry standards and are necessary having regard to its business activities. There can be no assurance that any insurance currently maintained will be available in the future on a commercially reasonable basis. If Envirosuite incurs uninsured losses or liabilities, its assets, profits and prospects may be adversely affected.

General risks

General economic conditions

Envirosuite’s operating performance and financial performance is influenced by a variety of general economic and business conditions including the level of inflation, interest rates, exchange rates and government fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies. Prolonged deterioration in general economic conditions, including an increase in interest rates or decrease in consumer and business demand, could be expected to have an adverse impact on Envirosuite’s business, results of operations or financial condition and performance. In particular, this may impact on Envirosuite’s ability to develop products and establish business operations in the expected time frame or at its current levels.

There also continues to be considerable uncertainty as to the duration and further impact of COVID-19, including but not limited to in relation to government, regulatory or health authority actions, work stoppages, lockdowns, quarantines and travel restrictions. The impacts of COVID-19 are beyond Envirosuite’s control, and may affect Envirosuite’s ability to operate and manage its business effectively. Increased economic uncertainty resulting from the impacts of COVID-19 may also result in a reduction in sales inflows, which may in turn impact on Envirosuite’s financial condition and operations.

General investment risks

There are general risks associated with investments in equity securities. No assurances can be given that any new shares will trade at or above the price at which they are issued. None of Envirosuite, its directors or any other person guarantees the market performance of any new shares issued of Envirosuite. The trading price of shares in Envirosuite may fluctuate with movements in equity capital markets in Australia and internationally. This may result in the market price for the any new shares being less or more than the price at which they are issued.

Generally applicable factors which may affect the market price of Envirosuite shares (and over which Envirosuite and its directors have limited or no control) include:

Key Risks

- the impact of COVID-19 (or other pandemics or epidemics), and the measures taken to control their spread, including on the health of the workforce, and customers and impact on supply chains;
- general movements in Australian and international stock markets;
- investor sentiment and the demand for ASX-listed securities generally, and the risk of contagion;
- Australian and international economic conditions and outlook, including aggregate investment and economic output, employment levels and labour costs, commodity prices, inflation, interest rates, and exchange rates;
- changes in interest rates and the rate of inflation;
- changes in exchange rates, employment levels and consumer demand;
- changes in government legislation, regulation and policies, including fiscal, regulatory, trade and monetary policies and tax laws;
- announcement of new technologies and displacement of existing technologies;
- natural disasters, extreme weather events and catastrophes;
- geo-political instability, including international hostilities and acts of terrorism;
- demand for and supply of Envirosuite shares;
- announcements and results of competitors; and
- the expectations of securities analysts and analysts' reports.

Volatility and liquidity risk

While Envirosuite shares are currently listed on ASX, there is no guarantee that there will at all times be sufficient buyers of shares to enable shareholders to dispose of Envirosuite shares in a timely manner at a price that the shareholder may have expected to achieve. The price of shares may go up and down by a material amount, even over a short period of time. No assurance can be given that the shares issued under the placement will trade at or above the price they are offered or that there will be an active market in Envirosuite shares. None of Envirosuite, its directors nor any other person guarantees the performance of any new shares issued under the placement.

Litigation risk

Legal proceedings and claims may arise from time to time in the ordinary course of Envirosuite's business and may result in high legal costs, adverse monetary judgements and damage to Envirosuite's reputation which could have an adverse impact on Envirosuite's financial position and financial performance and the price of its shares.

Risk of dilution

Shareholders' interests in Envirosuite will be diluted as result of the capital raising currently contemplated. Shareholders may have their investment diluted by future capital raisings by Envirosuite. Envirosuite may issue new securities to finance future acquisitions or pay down debt which may, under certain circumstances, dilute the value of an investor's interest.

Dividends

Envirosuite has not previously declared a dividend. The payment of any dividends in respect of Envirosuite's shares is affected by several factors, including Envirosuite's profitability, retained earnings, ability to frank dividends, capital requirements and free cash flow. Any future dividends will be determined by Envirosuite's Board having regard to these factors, among others. There is no guarantee that any dividends will be paid by Envirosuite.

Adverse changes to tax laws

Existing tax law and future changes in taxation laws, including changes in interpretation or application of the law

by the courts or taxation authorities in Australia and any other jurisdiction in which Envirosuite operates now or in the future, may affect the taxation treatment of an investment in Envirosuite shares, or the holding or disposal of Envirosuite shares. Further changes in tax laws in Australia or in any jurisdictions in which Envirosuite operates now or in the future, may impact the future tax liabilities of Envirosuite.

Accounting standards

Accounting standards may change. This may affect the reporting earnings of Envirosuite and its financial position from time to time. Envirosuite has previously and will continue to assess and disclose, when known, the effect of adopting new accounting standards in its periodic financial reporting.

Operational risks

Operational risk relates to the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people and systems, or from external events which impact on Envirosuite's business. Envirosuite is exposed to operational risks including risks arising from process error, fraud, system failure, failure of security and protection systems including cyber and physical security protections. Operational risk has the potential to have an effect on Envirosuite's financial performance and position as well as reputation.

Force majeure events

Events may occur within or outside Envirosuite's key markets that could impact upon the global economies and the operations of Envirosuite. The events include, but are not limited, to acts of terrorism, an outbreak of international hostilities, fires, floods, earthquakes, cyclones, changes in weather patterns or other severe weather events, labour strikes, civil wars, natural disasters, outbreaks of disease or other natural or manmade events or occurrences that can have an adverse effect on market conditions, the demand for Envirosuite's product offering and services and Envirosuite's ability to conduct business.

Other risks

The above risks should not be taken as a complete list of the risks associated with an investment in Envirosuite. The risks outlined above and other risks not specifically referred to may in the future materially adversely affect the value of Envirosuite shares and their performance. Accordingly, no assurance or guarantee of future performance or profitability is given by Envirosuite in respect of Envirosuite shares.

Definition of terms

ARPS	Average Revenue Per Site which is calculated by taking the ARR divided by the number of sites.	Adjusted EBITDA	Earnings Before Interest Depreciation and Amortisation adjusted to (a) exclude share-based compensation, which is a non-cash expense; (b) exclude foreign exchange gains/losses, and transition expenses (redundancy payments and integration costs connected with acquisitions) which are deemed to be non-recurring in nature, and (c) add back depreciation and interest connected with leases recognised under IFRS 16 Leases as these are deemed to be recurring operating cash expenses.
ARR	Annual Recurring Revenue represents the monthly recurring revenue at the reporting date that the company expects to receive from customers based on sales orders received net of any churn.	Software as a Service	Refers to a method of software delivery and licensing in which a cloud-based software solution is accessed via a recurring subscription fee.
Site	A separate and distinguishable site (e.g., airport, mine site, waste and wastewater facility, construction site, etc.) at which Envirosuite's environmental monitoring software and/or solutions are deployed. A single customer may have multiple sites which can be through separate contracts or under one master contract with Envirosuite. A site is only counted once it is included within the calculation of ARR.	Service Addressable Market (SAM)	The service addressable market is the portion of the Total Addressable Market (TAM) that can be meaningfully reached by Envirosuite's software and solutions. It is calculated by taking the applicable global Sites (mines, wastewater treatment plants etc.) where Envirosuite's software and solutions could meaningfully apply and multiplied by the current market Annual Recurring Revenue (ARR) price for that software/solution.
Recurring revenue	Revenue that the company expects to continue for more than 12 months based on term of the contract entered into with the customer or experience with the customer on other similar sites. Once revenue is treated as recurring revenue, it will continue to be accounted for as recurring revenue until the contract is terminated.	Total Addressable Market	The Total Addressable Market (TAM) refers to the total market demand for EVS products if 100% of the available market is addressed. It is calculated by multiplying the total number of global Sites (mines, waste water treatment plants etc) by the theoretical market ARR for that Site type.
Environmental Intelligence	Environmental Intelligence harnesses the power of environmental data through proprietary technology to provide analytics, real-time visualisations, predictive modelling and actionable insights so that industry and government can make fast, confident decisions that optimise operational outcomes and improve the liveability of their communities.
