Clarification on Trading Halt Letter

AIR clarifies that there was a typo in the letter yesterday. The letter should have read:

“The patent is looking at a range of oral care products that could inhibit the replication of the novel coronavirus inside the cells of the oral cavity / mouth”

Further, the IP lawyers have reviewed the patent and confirmed the novelty of the patent idea and are looking to finalise and file the patent today.

The Board is currently finalising the collaboration agreement and anticipates an ASX announcement tomorrow.
