EROAD appoints new Chief Technology Officer

EROAD is pleased to announce the appointment of Tim Hogan to the role of Chief Technology Officer, starting on 30th November.

Tim has extensive experience in the technology sector, with a particular focus on SaaS. As both a founder and leader, Tim has built a track record of successful platform and revenue growth. Tim has held key leadership roles at major global companies including Warner Bros. and TiVo as well as founding a successful technology company. In his most recent role as Chief Innovation Officer for Webedia Entertainment, Tim expanded the partner ecosystem and developed new strategies for data commercialisation. He has launched and localised technology services in 11 markets around the world.

CEO Steven Newman said “We are very pleased to add Tim’s significant leadership and technical capability and global experience to drive EROAD’s technology offering. Tim has been key to the successful growth of a number of globally recognised entertainment technology brands. As we accelerate our growth strategies, Tim’s experience will be invaluable.”

“We’ve got ambitious growth plans and a strong team of highly capable people who are dedicated to helping solve our customers problems. We look forward to Tim joining us and leading our technology function as we continue to expand EROAD’s platform to become the global leader in vehicle telematics” said Mr Newman.
