HUB24 March Quarter Update

March Quarter FY20 Highlights

- Quarter Net Inflows<sup>1</sup> of $1.4 billion (up 72% on pcp ), with Gross Inflows of $1.8 billion.
- Funds Under Administration (FUA) of $15.1 billion at 31 March 2020 (up 32% on pcp).
- Best Platform Managed Accounts Functionality 4th year running<sup>3</sup>
- Equal 1st place for Wealth Insights Platform Service Ranking Overall Satisfaction with the highest percentage of top ratings across all categories<sup>5</sup>.
- Launch & rollout of ClearView Wealth Limited whitelabel IDPS and Super offers
- The business continues to operate effectively under our Business Continuity Plan in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Advisers and clients are able to transact as usual without interruption.

Net Inflows and Growth in FUA

HUB24 continued to experience strong net inflows in the March quarter of $1.4 billion. FY20 average monthly Net Inflows of $429 million (FY19 average monthly Net Inflows were $324 million and were $264 million excluding the large transition in December 2018)<sup>1</sup>. FUA for the quarter decreased by $2.1bn to $15.1bn, down 13.1% since 31 December 2019 as a result of negative market movement. FUA on the HUB24 platform is not fully correlated to movements in equity markets which had dropped by 24.3% (ASX300) over the March Quarter. In the period since March 31 the ASX300 has risen 3%<sup>4</sup>.

Net inflows for the March quarter have been driven by strong support from large national licensee and broker channels, as well as new business from boutiques and self-licensed advisers. The transition pipeline remains strong, with transitions from incumbent platforms and brokers continuing during the quarter.

As per our ASX market update on 3rd April 2020, whilst net inflows have continued since the end of the quarter and our new business pipeline remains strong, many advisers are focussed on supporting existing clients and adapting business models for the current environment, as such we expect net inflows to soften in the June quarter. As the COVID-19 pandemic continues to impact the market it is difficult to anticipate outcomes as all stakeholders respond to the challenging conditions.

FUA movements affect our revenue and the market movement impact experienced to date is expected to negatively impact administration fees and therefore earnings for FY20. Revenue will also be negatively impacted by the reduction in the official cash rate by the RBA announced on 17 March 2020. However, increasing transactional revenue, changes in portfolio asset composition, and the effect of tiered administration fees each act to soften this revenue and earnings impact.

Business Update

HUB24's continued focus on customer service, product choice and delivering innovative solutions for our customers has resulted in us being awarded equal first out of 15 platforms in the Wealth Insights Platform Service Satisfaction survey. Additionally, we were ranked first in terms of IT/Web Functionality<sup>5</sup>. Once again HUB24 has been recognised as the industry leader in the managed portfolio space, taking out the Investment Trends Best Platform Managed Accounts solution for the fourth year running, as well as the awards for Product Offering and Integration<sup>3</sup>.

In the March quarter there were 26 new managed portfolios added to our menu which were a combination of equities and diversified asset classes along with the new Milliman SmartShield Portfolio range which can provide protection to investors during periods of market volatility and are currently exclusive to HUB24. Additionally, 7 new international ETF's were added bringing to total now available to 87.

Strategic initiatives are progressing well, this quarter with the launch of ClearView Wealth Limited's new whitelabel IDPS and Super products. The HUB24 team are now working with the product and practice development teams at ClearView to roll out the new solutions and provide training and support for advisers within their network. Progress is continuing on planning the FUA transition from ClearView WealthSolutions wrap platform. Additionally, the latest version of HUBconnect has been rolled out to pilot users and features an upgraded user interface and navigation, enhanced reporting capabilities and additional data feeds.

Paragem signed two new practices during the quarter bringing the total new practices added during the year to 13.

As per our recent market update on business operations with regards to the COVID-19 pandemic, HUB24's Business Continuity Plan has been activated and teams are working remotely to support and service our clients. Advisers are adapting to challenging conditions and predominantly focussed on supporting current clients, whilst some advisers are also actively writing new business.

Our team remain focussed on supporting advisers and are actively helping them to leverage the capability of the platform to help their clients, for example utilising the platform's tax efficiency tools to manage CGT and transaction cost implications when rebalancing portfolios. Additionally, to help advisers' onboard clients more efficiently on the platform, clients can now complete and sign application forms digitally.

The government has announced new legislation to help Australians manage the impact of the pandemic, HUB24 is communicating regularly with advisers to keep them up to date with announcements and is aligning processes accordingly to effectively manage any changes that need to be made to client accounts, for example the ability for advisers to adjust their clients' pension drawdown amounts.

Andrew Alcock, Managing Director commented "Financial advice is more important than ever. HUB24 is in a strong position and we have mobilised rapidly to continue to deliver for our customers without interruption. The smart features and flexibility of our platform solution is enabling advisers and their clients to adapt quickly to the current conditions."
