

Q1 FY23 OPERATIONAL UPDATE

2 November 2022

Goodman

Goodman Business Park, Greater Tokyo, Japan.

Goodman has delivered a strong operational result in the first quarter, despite the volatile economic environment, with the long-term structural drivers of demand for well-located industrial real estate remaining intact.

Demand is underpinning high occupancy, continued positive rental growth and development activity in our markets as we provide well-located sustainable properties to improve productivity for our customers.

We remain cautious and patient given market volatility, geopolitical risks and a slowing global economy. The Group maintains a strong balance sheet alongside our capital partners, to adapt to changing market conditions and take advantage of growth opportunities.

“The Group’s solid operational performance this quarter is a result of the consistent execution of our strategy to deliver high quality sustainable properties in strategic locations around the world.

We are in a strong position to withstand and respond to the impacts of a slowing economy in different parts of the world. This is due to the demand for our strategic locations, quality of our assets, strength of our development book, growth in cash flows, and our low leverage and strong capital position.”

– Greg Goodman, Group CEO

PROPERTY INVESTMENT

Customer demand for our properties continues, with e-commerce, supply chain optimisation, and ongoing growth in data storage requirements the key drivers of leasing activity.

In addition, lack of available space in our markets is supporting positive underlying portfolio activity and fundamentals.

Key highlights at 30 September 2022

- + 12 month rolling like-for-like NPI growth of 4.0%¹
- + Portfolio occupancy of 99%¹
- + Portfolio WALE of 5.4¹ years
- + Leased 4.1¹ million sqm across the platform over the 12-month period, equating to $527¹ million of rental income per annum

Tight supply conditions remain in our markets and we continue to see strong growth in rents. Reversion of current passing rents to those achievable in the market has continued to increase, in particular in North America, Australia / NZ, and UK/Europe, where reversion now ranges from 20%-60%. This should continue to support cashflow growth in future periods.

DEVELOPMENT

Our customers are seeking to maximise supply chain efficiency and are looking for sustainable, versatile properties that are close to consumers and optimised to house their investments in automation and technology.

- + Demand is supporting work in progress of $13.8 billion at 30 September 2022
- + Pre-commitments remain high across the workbook with completions 100% committed and WIP 68% committed
- + Yield on cost (YOC) on WIP is 6.4%
- + The production rate¹ for WIP is approximately $7 billion
- + Completions for the quarter were $1.9 billion and 100% occupied
- + We continue to mitigate risk through a globally diversified workbook and investment partnering, with 85% of the WIP either pre-sold or being built for third parties or our Partnerships and 80% of new starts being pre-leased.

The scarcity of available space in our markets continues to drive take-up and support rents, and project returns. While we remain conservative in our assumptions, construction cost inflation appears to be moderating.

We continue to selectively pursue tightly held, strategic, large scale development sites and value add opportunities.

MANAGEMENT

The Partnerships continue to focus on organic growth through development, and our strategy to allocate capital prudently into select strategic investment opportunities remains

- + Total assets under management increased to $77.8 billion as at 30 September 2022, reflecting acquisitions, revaluations and FX gains
- + Cap rates across our portfolio have increased by up to 40bps in some markets but the impact on values has been more than offset by rental growth.

Whilst cap rates may expand further, we believe the mitigating impact of portfolio under-renting, high occupancy and cash flow growth, combined with revaluation gains on developments within the Partnerships, will continue to be a feature through the year and it is expected that AUM will continue to grow.

The Partnerships retain significant financial flexibility with high levels of liquidity, low leverage and extensive interest rate and currency hedging.

OUTLOOK

Commenting on the outlook, Greg Goodman said, “Goodman’s execution of its long-term strategy and its geographic diversity provides operational flexibility and resilience to adapt to the current market volatility. As a result of concentrating our portfolio in supply constrained markets, we continue to experience high occupancy and positive rental growth.

Customer demand for space continues to be supported by structural drivers, including e-commerce growth and increasing productivity through supply chain optimisation and investment in automation and technology. We remain focused on providing opportunities in key locations for our customers to establish this critical infrastructure for their businesses and offset higher costs. In addition, ongoing growth in data storage requirements globally is increasingly creating competition for space in our markets. Given this demand we expect WIP to remain strong in FY23.

While the economic outlook appears uncertain, the Group is in a strong position operationally and financially through the disciplined execution of our strategy. We have significant liquidity, low gearing and extensive hedging. The Partnerships are also in a robust financial position. We are actively considering strategic opportunities around the world that are aligned with our strategy – those that are in select locations and positioned for long-term growth. However, we remain patient and cautious, looking to only implement opportunities that provide deep value”.

We confirm our forecast FY23 operating EPS growth of 11% , and a full year distribution of 30cps.

The Board approves targets annually and reviews forecasts regularly. Forecasts are subject to there being no material adverse change in the market conditions or the occurrence of other unforeseen events
