

Company Announcement

21st November 2023

- Co-founders Dr Sam Hupert and Mr Anthony Hall have each sold 1 million PME shares during the current trading window
- The sale represents less than 4% of their respective shareholdings.
- The transaction, in response to an approach from an individual fund, was conducted at the closing market price on the 20th November 2023 of $88.02
- Dr Hupert and Mr Hall remain the two largest shareholders in the company with both founders retaining in excess of 25 million shares each.
- Their combined shareholdings after the sale represent 48% of the company's shares on issue.

The Pro Medicus Board has been advised that co-founders Dr Sam Hupert and Mr Anthony Hall have sold 1 million shares each in the current trading window representing less than 4% of their individual holdings. The sale was in response to a strong approach from an individual fund and was done before market at the previous day's closing price (0% discount).

Dr Hupert and Mr Hall are actively engaged in the company as executives and board members and are committed to its future. They remain the two key stake holders in the company with their combined holding post this recent sale of 48%

Dr Hupert and Mr Hall re-affirmed that they do not intend to sell any further shares in PME in the foreseeable future.

The Chairman of the Board, Mr Peter Kempen AM, noted that this sale of shares by the Founders is consistent with previous sales. This provides prospective shareholders with the opportunity to invest in the Company and ultimately will lead to an increase in the "free float".

Approved by the Chairman of the Board
