

ASX ANNOUNCEMENT

5 March 2024

CEO Appointment

The Board of 29Metals Limited ('29Metals' or, the 'Company') today announced that James Palmer has been appointed as the new Chief Executive Officer of 29Metals.

James will commence the role on 1 May 2024, replacing Peter Albert who will retire as Managing Director & CEO on 30 April 2024 (as previously announced).

James has more than 25 years' experience across operational, technical, strategy and business development roles, in a career that spans multiple commodities. James will join 29Metals from BHP where he has spent the past two decades in various leadership roles, most recently as BHP's Group Performance & Improvement Officer.

Commenting on Mr Palmer's appointment, 29Metals' Chair of the Board of Directors, Owen Hegarty, said:

"The Board is delighted to appoint someone of James' calibre and experience. James impressed us with his drive and energy, his deep operational and business improvement experience, and his track record of operational transformation and stakeholder engagement.

"The Board extends our thanks to Peter, 29Metals' foundation CEO, who has led 29Metals through its establishment, the IPO and the period since."

Commenting on his appointment, James said:

"It is a privilege to be entrusted to lead 29Metals as its next CEO. The opportunity to take 29Metals forward to realise its vision - to be a leading ASX-listed copper-focused company, offering investors exposure to copper and other metals critical to the global energy transition - is compelling.

"I am very much looking forward to working with the Board and the team across the business to drive safety and performance to realise the clear potential of 29Metals' assets and people."

Biographical information regarding James' professional career, along with the key terms of James' appointment (including remuneration), are set out in the attachment to this release.
