8.8.1	Does the entity expect that it will continue to have the current level of net operating cash flows for the time being and, if not, why not?
	Answer: No. The Company is in the process of establishing a new business and is already experiencing a ramp up of activities. While this represents a modest increase in working capital requirement it will also reflect a significant increase in positive cash flow. The Company operates on very modest operating expenses and these increase marginally while sales can increase significantly resulting within a short period significant cash contribution.
8.8.2	Has the entity taken any steps, or does it propose to take any steps, to raise further cash to fund its operations and, if so, what are those steps and how likely does it believe that they will be successful?
	Answer: The Company may choose to place the balance of its shortfall but it believes cash generated from the development of its current business will more than support ongoing operations.

8.8.3 Does the entity expect to be able to continue its operations and to meet its business objectives and, if so, on what basis?

Answer: Yes. Given engagement with major customers, increasing orders and product development involving higher margin product the Company believes it will continue and develop its operations.

Note: where item 8.7 is less than 2 quarters, all of questions 8.8.1, 8.8.2 and 8.8.3 above must be answered.
