

Rein In Receivables

AGM Presentation

Approved for release by the Board

October 2022

Key highlights

UK Education: new academic year commences September 22

The business will execute on its plan to have UK Education start to contribute in the first half of FY23, through student tuition and accommodation fees

Other markets

After two years of stagnation the domestic pipeline has grown significantly as Australian businesses emerge from lockdown. Engagement with businesses in the UAE and North America continues which will see commercialisation in the FY 23 year

Operating efficiencies

Data analysis has led to the offering of a credit card gateway to enable an increase in Convera/WUBS's share of wallet

Further relationships cemented

Additional agreements on internal WUBS divisions and external players executed to enable lateral roll out of the platform in multiple jurisdictions

Costs contained

Operating leverage maintained by managing costs through the signing and implementation of new clients

Capital raising –

2.1M in January 22 to fully fund company to commercialisation

Robust business model

Annuity-style licence fee revenue underpins significant operating leverage potential when linked to transactional based upside

Results

	FY22 $m	FY21 $m
Revenue	0.80	0.86	Domestic licence fee revenue only
R & D/Grants	0.44	0.26	Higher due to greater investment in R&D
Costs	-3.5	-3.2	Costs being managed to enable operating leverage upswing
D & A	-0.15	-0.09
Net Loss	-2.4	-2.2	Loss maintained while preparing for global commercialisation

Commercialisation

UK Universities begin their billing cycle in September/October 2022

UK Education Metrics

LIVE UK UNIVERSITIES

Universities live and ready for the new academic year

Current total students loaded: Approximately 50,000 students invoices will be loaded

Total Value of Invoices:

Total value of the tuition and accommodation fees for these students is expected to be circa GBP830m per annum. Invoices are issued three times a year

Invoice and working cap cycle: Initial invoices are sent to students during last week of October 22 and November 22 depending upon the university's billing cycle and are payable upfront, quarterly or monthly depending on the instalment plan. Further invoicing is done in January 23, and April 23

Revenue metrics:

IODM receives revenue once the invoice is paid, through the Forex Payment Platform which now includes credit card payments. IODM is paid monthly.
