The interview was conducted with Paydirt Media and provides an outline of the CEO’s plans and the impact of COVID-19 on the Company.

As discussed in the interview, CEO Tim Mason commented:

“Our goal is to create a sustainable mining operation at Oracle Ridge. To do this, we need to build on our existing Mineral Resources to support an appropriate production rate and initial mine life. Recent geophysical results combined with our ongoing review of historic information indicate the strong possibility of extensions to the existing NI43-101 Mineral Resource and further prospective targets within a short distance of a potential processing plant site. Future mining studies will also benefit from both extensive local and regional infrastructure in a supportive mining jurisdiction. We are well underway defining drill targets in preparation for a future drilling program to support our goal of a sustainable mining operation.”
