

West Erregulla-2 flow test update

Highlights

- West Erregulla 2 flow test has commenced with initial clean-up operations
- Full flow testing program to follow to determine reservoir performance

Since the last update, the flow test package has mobilised to site and the well clean-up activities have been progressed. Strong gas flows were observed as the reservoir pressure was used to unload the wellbore fluids. The formal production testing program will now be undertaken over the coming days to gather critical reservoir information and determine the equivalent open flow rate for future development wells in the permit.
