

ASX MARKET RELEASE

Update regarding Date of Annual General Meeting

18 November 2020 - Adelaide, Australia

Buddy Technologies Limited ("Company") (ASX:BUD), a leader in IoT and cloud-based solutions for making spaces smarter, advises that its 2020 Annual General Meeting ("AGM") will be deferred from Monday, 30 November 2020 (as announced to ASX on 8 October 2020), until a date to be determined in January 2021. The deferral allows resolutions related to the Company's recently completed capital raising to be considered at the AGM.

The deferral of the AGM is in reliance on the "no action" position announced by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission ("ASIC") in ASIC's Media Release 20-113MR released on 13 May 2020, which advises that ASIC has adopted a "no action" against public companies with a 30 June 2020 financial year end which do not hold their AGM by 30 November 2020 provided the public company holds its AGM by no later than 31 January 2021.

The Company's Notice of Meeting (which will include resolutions related to the recently completed capital raising) and Proxy Form for the 2020 AGM will be announced to the ASX and communicated to shareholders in the coming weeks.
