RISK FACTORS

Refer to Section 2 for details of the risks associated with an investment in the Company. As with any securities investment, there are risks associated with investing in the Company. Investors should be aware that an investment in the Company involves risks that may be greater than risks associated with an investment in some other companies. The principal risks that could affect the financial and market performance of the Company are detailed in Section 2 of this Prospectus. The Listed Options on offer under this Prospectus should be considered speculative. Accordingly, before deciding to invest in the Company, investors should read this Prospectus in its entirety and should consider all factors in light of their individual circumstances and seek appropriate professional advice.

The Board aims to manage these risks by carefully planning its activities and implementing risk control measures. Some of the risks are, however, highly unpredictable and the extent to which they can be effectively managed is limited.

Careful consideration should be given to all matters raised in this Prospectus and the relative risk factors prior to applying for Listed Options offered under this Prospectus. *These dates are indicative only and subject to change. 1. DETAILS OF THE OFFER

1.1 The Offer

This Prospectus invites investors identified by the Directors to apply for a total of up to 10,000 Listed Options (Offer).

The Offer is only available to those who are personally invited to accept the Offer. Accordingly, Application Forms will only be provided by the Company to these parties.

The Listed Options offered under this Prospectus are exercisable at $0.08 on or before 17 December 2023. The full terms and conditions of the Listed Options are set out in Section 4.3.

All Shares issued on exercise of the Listed Options will rank equally with the Shares then on issue. A summary of the rights and liabilities attaching to Shares is set out in Section 4.2.

1.2 Objective

The purpose of the Offer is not to raise funds. Instead, its purpose is to remove trading restrictions on Listed Options to be issued without disclosure under Part 6D of the Corporations Act before the Closing Date. In particular:

- (a) up to 100,000,000 Listed Options to be issued to sophisticated and professional investors (Placement Participants) who participated in the Company's placement announced to ASX on 29 October 2021 (Placement) on the basis of 2 free-attaching Listed Options for every Share subscribed for and issued under the Placement; and
- (b) up to 12,000,000 Listed Options to Peak Asset Management (and/or its nominees) (Lead Manager) in consideration for lead manager services provided in respect to the Placement.

Further details regarding the Placement are set out in the Company's announcement released to the ASX on 29 October 2021.

Generally, section 707(3) of the Corporations Act requires that a prospectus is issued in order for a person to whom securities were issued without disclosure under Part 6D of the Corporations Act to offer those securities for sale within 12 months of their issue.

The Corporations Act provides an exception to section 707(3) where an entity issues a 'cleansing' notice under section 708A(5). However, the Company is precluded from issuing a 'cleansing' notice in respect of the Listed Options as they are not in a class of securities that were quoted securities at all times in the last 3 months.

However, section 708A(11)(b) of the Corporations Act provides that a sale offer does not need disclosure to investors if:

- (c) the relevant securities are in a class of securities of the company that are already quoted on the ASX;
- (d) a prospectus is lodged with ASIC either:
 - (i) on or after the day on which the relevant securities were issued; or
 - (ii) before the day on which the relevant securities are issued and offers of securities that have been made under the prospectus are still open for acceptance on the day on which the relevant securities were issued; and

- (e) the prospectus is for an offer of securities issued by the company that are in the same class of securities as the relevant securities.

The principal risks that could affect the financial and market performance of the Company are detailed in Section 2 of this Prospectus. The Listed Options on offer under this Prospectus should be considered speculative. Accordingly, before deciding to invest in the Company, investors should read this Prospectus in its entirety and should consider all factors in light of their individual circumstances and seek appropriate professional advice.

1.11 Overseas Applicants

The Company and the Share Registry collect, hold and use that personal information to assess applications for securities to provide facilities and services to Shareholders, and to carry out various administrative functions. 2. RISK FACTORS

2.1 Introduction

The Listed Options offered under this Prospectus should be considered speculative because of the nature of the Company's business.

Whilst the Directors recommend that Shareholders take up their entitlement to Listed Options, there are however numerous risk factors involved. Some of these risks can be mitigated by the use of safeguards and appropriate systems and controls, but some are outside the control of the Company and cannot be mitigated. Accordingly, an investment in the Company carries no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, return of capital or price at which the Listed Options (or the underlying Shares) will trade.

The following is a summary of the more material matters to be considered and should be read in conjunction with specific matters referred to in the Company's announcements and reports. However, the summary is not exhaustive and potential investors should examine the contents of this Prospectus in its entirety and consult their professional advisors before deciding whether to apply for the Listed Options.

2.2 Company specific

2.2.1 Maintaining, varying and expanding medicinal cannabis licenses

The successful execution of the Company's medicinal cannabis and hemp businesses objectives is contingent upon compliance with all applicable laws and regulatory requirements in Australia and other jurisdictions outside of Australia. ECS's ability to execute its business model and undertake its growth strategy is dependent on ECS's ability to maintain its medicinal cannabis licences and permits as issued by the ODC under the Narcotic Drugs Act 1967 (Cth) as well as its State licences and permits issued by the Department of Health, Victoria and Hemp Licences issued by Department of Primary Industries, Parks Water & Environment, Tasmania. In addition, ECS's current ability to execute its business model is dependent on its third party manufacturing partners ability to maintain and vary its license with relevant bodies such as the ODC and TGA. ECS cannot guarantee that the licences or permits will be renewed or varied in manner that is congruent to ECS. Existing licenses and permits and any new licenses and permits obtained in the future in Australia or other jurisdictions may also be revoked or restricted at any time should the Company fail to comply with the applicable regulatory obligations or with conditions of the licenses and permits. Should the licenses or permits be revoked, not renewed, or altered significantly the Company may not be able to produce or distribute medicinal cannabis products in Australia or export medicinal cannabis products outside of Australia.

2.2.2 Business strategy risk and limited history

Potential investors should consider that ECS is still a relatively early-stage enterprise in medicinal cannabis and hemp industry and the size of the market although growing is still relatively undetermined. Thus, investing in ECS is considered speculative and involves several significant risks.

ECS' future success is heavily reliant on executing its business plan.

This phase of ECS' growth carries significant risk and there is no assurance the Company will achieve these aspects of its business plan. Since the Australian cannabis industry is relatively new, the risk of not successfully executing its business plan is increased.

If ECS is unable to successfully develop these objectives, or if it develops slower than anticipated, there may be an adverse impact on ECS' ability to grow revenue, its financial statements and its ability to fulfil stakeholders' required return.

2.2.3 Product liability risk

There is a risk that ECS' products may have actual or perceived safety or quality failures or allegations of defective products which could result in:

- (a) litigation or claims by the parties affected;
- (b) regulatory authorities revoking or altering any approvals granted, or forcing ECS to conduct a product recall;
- (c) regulatory action or being held liable for any harm caused to customers;
- (d) damage to ECS' brand and reputation;
- (e) negative impact on the Company's insurance coverage; or
- (f) ECS being forced to terminate or delay sales or operations.

Despite best practice by ECS with respect to the manufacture and supply of its products and any insurance that ECS may hold, the risk of defective products remains and may negatively impact ECS' operations

2.2.4 Workplace health and safety risk

ECS' business involves farming which is inherently risky for the staff employed in that area. Other (non-farming) employees of ECS may be exposed to risks whilst working or travelling for work.

ECS must comply with various health and safety laws in Australia. There is a risk that penalties and other liabilities for the breach of health and safety law and standards may be imposed on ECS and may have an adverse effect on ECS' reputation and its revenue, profitability and growth.

2.2.5 Agricultural risk

ECS Botanics grows medicinal cannabis, its business is therefore, subject to the risks associated with farming/horticulture which include weather variability, insects and plant diseases, bird damage, pests and water insecurity.

Whilst ECS' management will endeavour to mitigate these risks with research and planning, any adverse outcomes in respect of these matters for ECS or its suppliers may adversely affect ECS' activities and operations.

2.2.6 Manufacturing and production risk

The ability for ECS Botanics to cultivate and produce products is dependent on a number of key inputs and their related costs. These key inputs include raw materials, electricity, water, other utilities and skilled labour. Any significant interruption or negative change in the availability or cost of these inputs could materially impact the production of the business and subsequently, the operating results of ECS.

2.2.7 Loss of key customers and distributors

ECS Botanics are reliant on various third-party contracts (binding and non-binding) throughout its business operations.

To the extent that ECS cannot obtain and/or retain customer or distributor contracts (due to disputes, increased competition or changes in the market), ECS' revenue, profitability and growth, additionally, financial performance may be materially and adversely affected.

Furthermore, should patient and consumers' sentiments towards hemp food and medicinal cannabis decline in the future, there may be an adverse impact on ECS' operations and the financial performance of the Company.

2.2.8 Supplier arrangements

The ability of ECS to cultivate and manufacture products for supply in the Australian industrial hemp and medicinal cannabis market is dependent on a number of key suppliers and their related costs. As with any cultivation or manufacturing operation, the availability of reputable suppliers of key inputs and any significant interruption or change in availability or costs of key inputs could materially impact the production process and hence the products available for supply. Subsequently, this would affect the operating results of ECS during the period which these risks materialise.

If, in future, ECS cannot secure or retain key suppliers, its ability to maintain consistent production levels may be comprised, which in turn may have a material adverse impact on the financial performance of the Company.

ECS is reliant on its third party manufacturers, distributors and logistics providers.

ECS has mitigated this risk by selectively in-sourcing and outsourcing various elements of the supply chain, however these risks are still visible and become greater as the Company expands.

However, all of the Company's contracts carry a risk that the third parties do not fulfil their respective obligations fully, or adequately. A failure of a third party or third parties to fulfil their contractual obligations may lead to termination of that contract or damage to ECS' reputation, profit and sale opportunities.

Additionally, while ECS intends to employ a range of suppliers, manufacturers and producers, a loss of one or multiple suppliers will disrupt the supply chain and could have a material adverse effect on the Company.

(a) Cultivation

With respect to cultivation, ECS owns farmland in Tasmania and Victoria to minimise risk in the supply of medicinal dry flower and biomass. ECS also uses protected cropping to reduce effect of rain, hail or insects on crops.

ECS' Tasmanian Farm and Victorian farms include water licenses. Adequate irrigation is essential to producing a crop and the level of irrigation directly affects the quality and yield of the crop. However, the termination or expiration of water licence arrangements will have a significant negative impact on ECS' operations.

(b) Storage

ECS owns two 35 tonne aerated silos located in Tasmania and has leases shed space to accommodate all of ECS' hemp grain supply, ECS also has vaults for the storage of medicinal cannabis in Tasmania and Victoria, and therefore, ECS' has substantially mitigated risks associated with its need for critical storage space for grain and medicinal cannabis

(c) Manufacturing

ECS outsources some of its manufacturing and production processes as it does not have the entire manufacturing capability for its food and medicinal cannabis products. This reliance on third parties to conduct this essential aspect of its business is a material risk to ECS.

ECS has worked to mitigate this risk by developing strong commercial business relationships with these third parties, and outsourcing its manufacturing and production activities to companies that have longevity and good reputations in Victoria and Tasmania.

These agreements ensure that the risk of outsourcing this aspect of ECS' business is decreased, and the future manufacturing and processing is assured to the extent of these agreements.

Third parties to whom ECS supplies medicinal cannabis and raw hemp seed to are required to hold licenses with the relevant authorities to enable that third party to make receivables. If such third parties fail to maintain or renew such authorisations, it may have an effect on the timeframe in which ECS may be able to supply its products to market.

(d) Logistics

As ECS relies on outsourced logistics, events such as strike, an increase in the cost of energy, changes in transport services or destruction of infrastructure may mean ECS cannot supply and deliver the Company's products.

2.2.9 Competition risk

The hemp and medicinal cannabis industry is subject to growing domestic and international competition.

While ECS will undertake all reasonable due diligence in its business planning and operations, however it has no influence or control over the activities or actions of its competitors, which activities or actions may, positively or negatively, affect the operating and financial performance of the Company. For example, ECS' competitors may be more adequately resourced than ECS and therefore can operate more efficiently and at a lower cost.

Further, ECS currently has a suite of hemp food products, however without the benefit of ongoing product differentiation, its products may become uncompetitive resulting in adverse effects on revenue and profitability. If ECS cannot adapt to meet its competitors increased efficiency, it may result in loss of market share and lower profit margins.

The same applies for ECS's medicinal cannabis business, although ECS has a leading position in cultivation and manufacturing, competitors can catch up quickly. Furthermore ECS's range of products it can supply and manufacture for third parties are replicable by competitors.

2.2.10 Uncontracted arrangements risk

A large proportion of ECS' business relationships are the subject to agreements which are subject to standard terms and conditions rather than comprehensive agreements which protect ECS' interests (as is considered standard in the food and medicinal cannabis industry).

Given the nature of these contractual relationships, it is not possible for ECS to contractually guarantee consistency of sales volumes, price or terms going forward.

Further, there is a risk that these customer relationships may not be able to be maintained, or new relationships may not be formed on terms acceptable to the Company.

2.2.11 Reputation, trade marks and protection of intellectual property

ECS believes that reputation and brand recognition are important to its business and the effective protection of intellectual property rights is critical to its interest.

ECS depends on its reputation and the reputation of its third party suppliers – damage to the third party's reputation will effect ECS' reputation and therefore profitability and operations.

ECS cannot guarantee that there will not be any unauthorised use or misuse of its brands. Any infringement may be detrimental to ECS' reputation and may lead to costly and time-consuming litigation or adversely affect ECS' financial performance.

To the extent that ECS relies upon its own intellectual property to conduct its business, it will need to protect its intellectual property. However, there may be circumstances where ECS' intellectual property and related licences cannot be protected or are subject to unauthorised disclosure, infringement or challenge by a third party.

If ECS does not protect its intellectual property or infringes a third party's intellectual property, it may have to cease using certain intellectual property or be liable for damages to that third party. This may also have an adverse impact on ECS' operations, financial performance and future prospects.

2.2.12 Key personnel and management risk

The Company's operational success will depend substantially on the continuing efforts of senior executives. The loss of services of one or more senior executives may have an adverse effect on the Company's operations. Furthermore, if the Company is unable to attract, train and retain key individuals and other highly skilled employees and consultants, its business may be adversely affected.

2.2.13 Technological and innovation risk

ECS Botanics will need to stay well informed with respect to technologies and products in relation to cultivation, manufacturing and supply of hemp food and medicinal cannabis products.

ECS' failure to employ the latest technologies to its processes and procedures will result in a downturn in its competitiveness and ultimately financial performance.

2.2.14 Risk of adverse future regulatory changes

The operations and proposed operations of ECS Botanics are subject to a variety of laws, regulations, and guidelines in its market, at federal and state levels including (but not limited to) product content requirements, labelling and packaging, regulations, environmental food standards and tax laws.

The introduction of new legislation or amendments to or changes to the practical effect of existing legislation by governments in relation to the legislation which governs ECS' business, could impact adversely on the assets, operations and the financial performance of ECS.

2.2.15 Requirement for additional funding and cost overruns

The funds to be raised under the Offer are considered sufficient to meet the current objectives of the Company. Despite management's effort to accurately estimate future costs, costs may exceed expected levels. If this occurs, additional funding may be required from time to time to finance its longer term objectives. The Company cannot give assurances that additional funding can be raised on favourable terms, if at all. ECS may never achieve profitability.

Additionally, the Company may discover further opportunities arise for capital expenditure, acquisitions or joint ventures. Should such events occur, the Company will look to raise additional funds via equity financing, debt financing or licensing arrangements. Failure to obtain sufficient funding may result in delay and indefinite postponement of the Companies activities. There can be no assurance that additional financing will be available when needed, on terms appropriate to the Company or that do not involve substantial dilution to Shareholders.

2.2.16 Insurance

ECS will endeavour to maintain insurance to mitigate the risks that the Company will face. However, ECS cannot insure against all risks, or guarantee that the level of insurance cover it obtains will be adequate, either because appropriate or necessary cover is not available or because Directors consider the required premiums to be excessive in relation to the benefits that would accrue.

If ECS incurs losses or liabilities for which it is uninsured, this may have a negative impact on the Company's financial performance and ability to operate its business.

2.2.17 Counterparty and credit risk

The business operations of ECS require the involvement of a number of third parties, including suppliers, contractors. Not being able to reach a binding agreement with a third party, financial failure, default, or contractual non-performance on the part of such third parties including failure to pay amounts due to ECS pursuant to its agreements, may have a material impact on the operations and performance of the Company.

2.2.18 Commodity price risk

ECS' business is subject to Australian and overseas hemp and medicinal cannabis commodity prices.

Prices of commodities (including agricultural commodities such as hemp and cannabis) vary and are affected by a variety of local and global factors that are beyond the control of the Company.

These factors include (but are not limited to) local and global supply and demand, production costs, weather and environmental conditions, governing authority regulations and flux (such as local and global growing programs and policies, sanctions and barriers), and also local and global plant diseases. Commodity prices are also affected by general local and global economic conditions.

Adverse changes in commodity prices may have an adverse impact on ECS' operations and business.

2.2.19 Unforeseen risks

There may be other risks which Directors or management are unaware of at the time of issuing this Prospectus which may impact on ECS, its operations and/or the valuation and performance of ECS.

2.3 General risks

2.3.1 Equity market conditions

Securities listed on the stock market can experience extreme price and volume fluctuations that are often unrelated to the operating performances of such companies. The market price of Shares may fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general.

General factors that may affect the market price of Shares include economic conditions in both Australia and internationally (particularly Australian, US and Chinese economic conditions), investor sentiment, local and international share market conditions, changes in interest rates and the rate of inflation, the global security situation and the possibility of terrorist disturbances, changes to government regulation, policy or legislation, changes which may occur to the taxation of companies as a result of changes in Australian and foreign taxation laws, changes to the system of dividend imputation in Australia, and changes in exchange rates.

2.3.2 Force majeure

Events completely out of the control of ECS have the potential to negatively impact the Company's operations including, for example, war, political unrest, riot, extreme weather conditions, strikes, explosion, terrorist activity and product sabotage.

2.3.3 Litigation risks

The Company is exposed to possible litigation risks including intellectual property claims, contractual disputes, occupational health and safety claims and employee claims. Further, the Company may be involved in disputes with other parties in the future which may result in litigation. Any such claim or dispute if proven, may impact adversely on the Company's operations, financial performance and financial position. The Company is not currently engaged in any litigation.

2.3.4 Reliance on key personnel

The responsibility of overseeing the day-to-day operations and the strategic management of the Company depends substantially on its senior management and its key personnel. There can be no assurance given that there will be no detrimental impact on the Company if one or more of these employees cease their employment.

2.3.5 General economic and political risks

Changes in the general economic and political climate in Australia and on a global basis may impact on economic growth, such as, interest rates, the rate of inflation, taxation and tariff laws and domestic security, which may affect the value and viability of any activities that may be conducted by the Company.

2.3.6 Shareholders may be diluted

In the event that the Company elects in the future to issue shares or to raise further capital to fund investments or acquisitions, Shareholders may have their shareholding diluted as a result of such share issues or capital raising. Any capital raising or share issue must be conducted in accordance with the Listing Rules and the limits on the securities that a listed company may issue in any 12-month period.

2.3.7 Unforeseen expenditure risks

Expenditure may need to be incurred which has not been taken into account in the preparation of this Prospectus. Although the Company is not aware of any such additional expenditure requirements, however if such expenditure is subsequently required or incurred, this may adversely impact budgeted expenditure proposals by the Company.

2.3.8 Corporate and business taxation

ECS is currently subject to a range of taxation obligations, potentially including income taxes (Australia federal, state and municipal income taxes), indirect taxes (Australian Goods and Services Tax), payroll taxes, superannuation and pension obligations, property taxes, and other taxes and levies.

There is potential for changes to any domestic tax laws. Any change to the current rates of taxes imposed on ECS is likely to affect returns to shareholders.

Any change in tax rules and tax arrangements or their implementation could have an adverse effect on the level of shareholder returns.

2.3.9 Coronavirus (COVID-19)

The outbreak of the coronavirus pandemic (COVID-19) is impacting on global economic markets. The nature and the extent of the effect of the outbreak on the performance of the Company remains unknown. The Company's Share price may be adversely affected in the short to medium term by the economic uncertainty caused by COVID-19. Further, any government or industry measures taken in response to COVID-19 may adversely impact the Company's operations and are likely to be beyond the control of the Company. The Directors are monitoring the situation closely and have considered the impact of COVID-19 on the Company's business and financial performance. With the situation continually evolving, the consequences are therefore inevitably uncertain at this point in time. If any of COVID-19 impacts appear material prior to the close of the Offer, the Company will inform investors under a supplementary Prospectus.

Therefore, the Shares carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those Shares.

If admitted to the official list of ASX at the time, application will be made by the Company to ASX for quotation of the Shares issued upon the exercise of the Options.

(j) Reconstruction of capital

If at any time the issued capital of the Company is reconstructed, all rights of an optionholder are to be changed in a manner consistent with the Corporations Act and the ASX Listing Rules at the time of the reconstruction.

If the Company makes a bonus issue of Shares or other securities to existing Shareholders (other than an issue in lieu or in satisfaction of dividends or by way of dividend reinvestment):

- (i) the number of Shares which must be issued on the exercise of an Option will be increased by the number of Shares which the optionholder would have received if the optionholder had exercised the Option before the record date for the bonus issue; and

- (ii) no change will be made to the Exercise Price.

5. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

5.1 Company Update

Details of the Company's current activities are set out in the announcements made by the Company to the ASX and are available from the ASX, or the Company's website at <https://www.ecs-botanics.com/>.

5.2 Nature of this Prospectus

The Listed Options to be issued pursuant to this Prospectus are options over continuously quoted securities. This Prospectus is issued under the special prospectus content rules for continuously quoted securities in Section 713 of the Corporations Act. This enables listed disclosing entities, such as the Company, to issue a prospectus for continuously quoted securities with modified disclosure requirements if they satisfy certain requirements.

The information in this Prospectus principally concerns the terms and conditions of the Offer and the information reasonably necessary to make an informed assessment of:

- (a) the effect of the Offer on the Company; and
- (b) the rights and liabilities attaching to the Listed Options offered pursuant to this Prospectus and the underlying securities.

The Prospectus is intended to be read in conjunction with the publicly available information in relation to the Company which has been notified to ASX and does not include all of the information that would be included in a prospectus for an initial public offering of securities in an entity that is not already listed on a stock exchange. Investors should therefore also have regard to the other publicly available information in relation to the Company before making a decision whether or not to invest in the Company.

5.3 Continuous Reporting and Disclosure Obligations

As the Company is admitted to the official list of ASX, the Company is a "disclosing entity" for the purposes of the Corporations Act. As such, it is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations. Specifically, like all listed companies, the Company is required to continuously disclose to the market any information it has which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or the value of the Company's securities.

Price sensitive information is publicly released through ASX before it is disclosed to Shareholders and market participants. Distribution of other information to Shareholders and market participants is also managed through disclosure to ASX. In addition, the Company posts information on its website after the ASX confirms an announcement has been made, with the aim of making the information readily accessible to the widest audience.

Investors are encouraged to check and monitor any further announcements made by the Company to ASX prior to securities being issued under the Offer. To do so, please refer to the Company's ASX announcements platform via www.asx.com.au.

By virtue of section 713 of the Corporations Act, the Company is entitled to issue a "transaction-specific" prospectus in respect of the Offer.

In general terms, a "transaction-specific prospectus" is only required to contain information in relation to the effect of the issue of securities on the Company and the rights and liabilities attaching to the securities. It is not necessary to include general information in relation to all of the assets and liabilities, financial position and performance, profits and losses or prospects of the issuing company.

As a disclosing entity under the Corporations Act, the Company states that:

- (a) it is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations;
- (b) copies of documents lodged with ASIC in relation to the Company may be obtained from, or inspected at, an office of ASIC; and
- (c) it will provide a copy of each of the following documents, free of charge, to any person on request between the date of issue of this Prospectus and the Closing Date:
 - (i) the annual financial report of the Company for the financial year ended 30 June 2021;
 - (ii) any half-year financial report of the Company lodged with ASIC after the lodgement of the annual financial report referred to above and before the lodgement of this Prospectus with ASIC; and
 - (iii) all continuous disclosure notices given by the Company after the lodgement of the annual financial report referred to above and before the lodgement of this Prospectus with ASIC (see below).

There is no information which has been excluded from a continuous disclosure notice in accordance with the ASX Listing Rules that investors or their professional advisers:

- (a) would reasonably require for the purpose of making an informed assessment of:
 - (i) the assets and liabilities, financial position and performance, profits and losses and prospects of the Company; and
 - (ii) the rights and liabilities attaching to the securities the subject of this Prospectus; and
- (b) would reasonably expect to find in this Prospectus.

This Prospectus contains information specific to the Offer. If investors require further information in relation to the Company, they are recommended to take advantage of the opportunity to inspect or obtain copies of the documents referred to above.
