3 February 2015

Unauthorised application in Google Play store

ZipTel Limited ("ZipTel" or "the Company", ASX: ZIP) has become aware of an unauthorised release of a "ZipT" application from an unrelated third party listed on the Google Play Store.

ZipT is currently in its pilot launch phase and therefore unavailable for public download at present. ZipTel have contacted the Google Play store and are currently in the process of retracting this version from the store and ensuring such issues do not arise again.

The issue is not uncommon in the Google Play store, due a limited approval process when submitting applications for download. The issue usually occurs when the application in question is experiencing high demand and/or has not yet launched in the store.

When the ZipT app is released for public download it will be available as a free download and will be announced publically by ZipTel Limited via the ASX platform. The ZipT app is on schedule for public launch in the coming months and has exceeded internal expectations on all testing criteria during the pilot phase to date.

All relevant corporate announcements are listed on the ZipTel website: <http://ziptel.com.au>. To stay informed with all up-to-date ZipT announcements register your details at www.ziptel.com.au

Any applications currently available for download in the Google Play store are not associated with ZipTel and without authorisation from ZipTel Limited. Users who encounter such products available for download and declaring to be the ZipT app are encouraged to report the incident to support@ziptel.com.

ZipTel listed on the ASX in July 2014 with its core focus primarily on the distribution of three core communications products, both domestically and internationally.

About ZipT

ZipT is a mobile-based international communication app that enables consumers to send SMSes and make international calls for free between users. The app can also call any landline or mobile at some of the world's lowest call rates. ZipT delivers crystal clear sound quality in lower bandwidth data environments and allows consumers to retain their existing phone number, service provider and SIM card, with no lock-in contracts. ZipT does not require a SIM card and can be installed on any smartphone or tablet on compatible platforms. ZipT uses less data than similar products already available on the market, and can be used over Wi-Fi or any mobile network.
